

Roosevelt Asks Quarter Billion More for Relief

Urges Immediate Appropriation to Meet Needs

RECESSION CAUSE

Says 1,950,000 Persons On WPA Rolls at Present

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for immediate appropriation of $250,000,000 to meet relief needs during the next four and a half months.

"Funds available at this time," the president wrote Speaker Bankhead, "will not only not take care of the additional burden caused by the recent increase in unemployment but will require a sharp reduction in the near future of the number on the works progress administration rolls."

WPA officials, anticipating the president's request, said most of the money would be used in industrial centers, especially the automobile manufacturing cities.

The money would be in addition to approximately $497,000,000 which WPA now has remaining from its original allotment for this fiscal year.

"The funds available on Jan. 1, 1938," said the president, "would permit employment of an average of only 1,700,000 persons for the six months ending June 30, 1938. The number of persons on the works progress administration rolls today is 1,950,000."

WPA officials said the sum Mr. Roosevelt asked would enable them to give relief to an average of 1,000,000 persons during the four and a half month period. Because of heavy winter demands, they added, more than 1,000,000 probably would be added now with curtailments in the spring.

May Outlets Have Reported

The same officials have reported that additional funds are not forthcoming which would permit the rolls down to 1,500,000 by the end of the fiscal year. The WPA announced there were 68,479 more persons on federal relief on Jan. 23 than there were a week before.

The president informed Bankhead that a deficiency appropriation of $250,000,000 would "permit the continued employment" during the remainder of the fiscal year, ending June 30, of persons now on work relief and would "provide a reasonable measure of relief for those who have recently become unemployed and are in need."

5,000,000 Lose Jobs

The president said that according to the best available estimate "it appears that, during the past three months, approximately 3,000,000 persons have lost their jobs with private employers."

"This increase in unemployment," he wrote, "could not, of course, have been foreseen at the time the last relief appropriation was under consideration."

"Hundreds of thousands of needy unemployed persons," he continued, "have recently applied for relief work which could not be provided for them with the funds on hand."

"It has become increasingly clear that these needs can not be met unless the employment by the works progress administration is increased immediately."

The text of President Roosevelt's letter to Speaker Bankhead on relief needs follows:

"I have the honor to submit herewith for your consideration a supplemental estimate of appropriation of $250,000,000 for relief of the unemployed."

"Emergency and work relief: to continue to provide relief and work relief as authorized in the emergency relief appropriation act of 1937, and subject to all the provisions thereof, $250,000,000, which amount shall be added to, and proportionately increase the specified amounts, of the limitations prescribed under the appropriation made in such act (50 Stat. 322)."

According to the best estimate available at this time it appears that, during the past three months,

Expect Decision Within Month On Rail Rates

Roads Say Increase Alone Would Solve Financial Problems

Washington—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission probably will decide the railroads' demand for higher rates about March 1, informed observers predicted today.

The roads contended, in hearings which closed yesterday, that only a 15 per cent raise in freight rates to meet increased costs would solve their financial problems.

Against this claim the commission weighed scores of counter-proposals from farmers, manufacturers and others who ship by rail.

After a decision is reached, President Roosevelt will begin round-table discussions with trainmen seeking to solve the riddle of why railroads are often in debt.

Typical of the problems which both administration officials and railroad men alike was the president's question at a recent press conference. He asked, in effect:

"If people have $200,000,000 invested in a railroad, and the property can only earn a return on $100,000,000, what can you do?"

The reconstruction finance corporation has loaned railroads $537,126,239, of which $181,232,693 has been repaid. The public works administration has loaned another $200,974,500; collected back $44,354,950.

R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, said the lines would have a deficit of $137,500,000 for 1938 unless rate increases are granted.

Goga Government Quits in Rumania

Former Premier Mironescu Commissioned To Form Cabinet

Bucharest—(AP)—The anti-Semitic government of premier Octavian Goga resigned today after six turbulent weeks in office. The resignation was handed to King Carol.

Former Premier Goga Mironescu was commissioned by the king to form a new cabinet.

Dr. Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox church, declined a suggestion by the king that he take over the regime.

Before the resignation King Carol had summoned four former premiers, not including Mironescu, to the palace for individual audiences.

Those received by the king included nearly all the living former premiers of Rumania, and it was understood he was trying to recruit the country's best brains.

It was authoritatively stated Goga would not be included in the new government.

Goga took office Dec. 28, 1937, and embarked at once on an anti-Jewish program that drew worldwide attention. Because his national Christian party held only 9 per cent of the seats in parliament he had that body dissolved Jan. 18 and elections called for March 2.

25 Fishermen Leap To Safety From Ice Field

Bayfield, Wis.—(AP)—Twenty-five fishermen leaped across several feet of open water to safety yesterday when a strong wind tore a huge field of ice from shore and carried it out into Lake Superior. Coast guardsmen stationed at Big Bay point warned the men of their peril.

Navy Program Held 'Step on Road to War'

Peace Advocate Sees 'Policy of Threat And Bluff'

DISPUTE IN HOUSE

Opposition Develops to Legislation on War Profits

Washington—(AP)—A peace advocate told congress today that President Roosevelt embarked, in his Chicago speech last fall, on "a policy of threat and bluff which can end only in humiliation or war."

Frederick J. Libby, executive of the National Council for Prevention of War, made this assertion before the house naval committee opposing the proposed $800,000,000 naval expansion program as "a definite step on the road to war."

Explaining he was a Quaker but favored a "reasonable" defense program, Libby declared it was the president's reference to "concerted effort" in the Chicago speech, and the degree of significance to be attached to it, that "worries the committee."

He said the answer was embodied in part in the proposed 20 per cent increase in the fleet and pending legislation to take profits out of war. He called the latter the "enabling legislation for the war department's mobilization plan."

Would Fight Alone

Libby declared no nation in Europe or Asia was free at this time to attack the United States and warned this country would have to fight Japan unaided "if our bluff is called." He said this was borne out by conditions in Europe where he said every major power was fully occupied by "troubles in their own backyards."

While the naval committee proceeded, congressional opposition developed to the war profits legislation.

Although the house military committee had expected to bring the bill before the house this week, it fell before the house this week, because of a sharply revised version that further discussion was postponed until next Tuesday.

While spokesmen for peace organizations fought the proposed $800,000,000 naval expansion program before the house naval committee, some members of the military group criticized the pending war-profits measure as "innocuous and unnecessary."

Bans Profit-Steering

Contending the measure would not prevent wartime profiteering because its tax provisions are

Accused Slayer Blames Narcotic

Girl Says Use of Drug Made 'Wrong Things Seem Right'

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—The 20-year-old policeman's daughter accused of killing a bus driver in a $210 holdup today told the jury trying her and a girl companion for murder that Marihuana cigarettes which made "wrong things seem right" started her on her brief career of crime.

The "smokes," Mrs. Ethel Strouse Sohl testified, "made me forget all about the pain in my head" which she said she had suffered since an automobile accident four years ago. She was introduced to the narcotic, she added, by her young husband, now a reformatory inmate.

Occasionally, her co-defendant Genevieve Owens, 18, glanced at her husband, William, brought here for the trial, both she and Sohl burst into tears.

The girls are charged with killing William Barthorst, 34, in his bus during a holdup at Belleville, Dec. 21.

From the rear of the room, Barthorst's widow, in mourning, eyed her and wept.

Mrs. Sohl was called after Prosecutor William A. Wachenfeld temporarily succeeded in keeping from the stand Dr. James A. Munch of Temple University, an expert on the effect of Marihuana, a narcotic. Judge Daniel J. Brennan, ruled his testimony would be premature.

Son of Supreme Court Justice Severely Hurt

Greensburg, Pa.—(AP)—Kevin Butler, of St. Paul, identified by hospital attendants as the son of Justice Pierce Butler of the United States Supreme court, was critically injured today in a fall from a speeding Pennsylvania railroad passenger train.

Railroad authorities said a passenger saw Butler crash through a window at Penn. near Greensburg. The train was halted and crews sent out found him unconscious.

The hospital reported Butler's skull was fractured, his spine injured and his scalp almost torn off. He was suffering also from internal injuries.

15 PERSONS KILLED

British Communist Charges Goering Is 'Soaked in Blood'

London—(AP)—William Gallacher, only communist member of parliament, created an uproar in the house of commons today by calling Germany's Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering a butcher "soaked in blood."

Members of the opposition were bitterly asking Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, if Goering should not be invited to London to see air raid precautions here in return for the recent inspection of Berlin's anti-aircraft preparations by Geoffrey Lloyd, parliamentary undersecretary of the home office.

Gallacher asked: "Is the home secretary aware that Goering is soaked in blood and is a butcher?" Sir Samuel did not reply.

Japanese Continue Their Advance in Central District

Major Fighting Expected To Center Along Peiping-Hankow Railway

Shanghai—(AP)—Guns of Japan's grand campaign to choke off China's Lushan railway and dominate 100,000 square miles of central China thundered today on the northwestern edge of the Lushan corridor.

The major fighting of opening phases of the battle was expected to center along the Peiping-Hankow railway which cuts across the Lushan at Chengchow, 300 miles west of the Chinese eastern coast.

Ninety miles north of Chengchow an artillery duel was in progress between Chinese and one of the eight Japanese columns aimed at the Lushan, China's main east-west railway, from the north and south.

One hundred Japanese warplanes bombarded widespread areas of central China and strafed Chinese positions yesterday to soften the resistance of the 400,000 Chinese troops defending the Lushan corridor. The Japanese naval spokesman told of the bombardment and said the planes aimed particularly at Chinese airbases.

Ask Aliens to Leave

The widespread air activity came exactly a week after Japanese armaments forces marked out the central China area as a new war zone and asked Americans and other foreigners there to leave.

Japan was pouring heavy reinforcements for the Changchun line into the Peiping-Hankow front and Chinese were feverishly preparing defenses to block the Japanese drive.

Chinese told of successful resistance on the southern border of the Lushan corridor, which separates the Japanese conquered areas of North China and the Yangtze river valley.

Officials Deny Capone Held in Straitjacket

San Francisco—(AP)—Out of a welter of conflicting reports today came a flat denial that Al Capone was confined in a straitjacket in Alcatraz island's prison hospital.

The only thing definite is that the once boastful Chicago gang chief is in a hospital and under observation for insanity, in the prison for America's most hardened criminals.

"Capone is being given the best of attention," said Warden James A. Johnston. "He has shown no signs of violence since entering the hospital and has not been in a straitjacket."

He don't propose to issue hourly bulletins on Capone's temperature and pulse, Capone has no special signs of violence since entering the hospital and has not been in a straitjacket.

The San Francisco Examiner today said an "unimpeachable" source had disclosed Capone would be on his way to the federal hospital for delinquents at Springfield, Mo., in a few days.

3 Buckman Officers to Be Named in Warrant

Milwaukee—(AP)—District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes said today a criminal warrant naming three officers of B. E. Buckman and company, bankrupt Madison investment firm, was being drawn here today.

Steffes said at least five days would be required to draft the complaint, containing separate counts and "covering the entire situation disclosed in the investigation."

The district attorney is working on the case with Lawrence Brody, La. Crosse, and Bruno V. Bitter, Milwaukee, special counsel appointed by Governor LaFollette.

Chicago's Underworld Rackets Probed As Police Search for Three Slayers

Chicago—(AP)—Investigators pried into the underworld rackets today in search of a motive for the slaying of one man and wounding of three others by three smiling gunmen.

Rivalry between racketeers in illicit alcohol and gambling enterprises offered the only immediate explanation for the shootings.

The three killers, disguised as hunters, entered a bakery in suburban Chicago Heights yesterday. "Hello Sam," said one of them to Sam Costello.

Costello extended his hand in greeting the gunmen opened fire. He fell mortally wounded with nine slugs in the abdomen. He was wearing one of the diamond belt buckles given by Al Capone to his close friends during the turbulent prohibition era.

5 Die, Score Are Injured in Western Storm

Property Loss in Northern California Runs Into Millions

FLOODS ARE FEARED

San Francisco—(AP)—A gale struck northern California, killed five persons, injured scores of others, and caused property damage estimated today at millions of dollars.

The wind, which at several places along a 300-mile front reached almost storm force yesterday, came as a shrieking climax to 14 days of storm. It left in its wake broken communication systems, blocked highways and railroads, and a menace of floods from additional rains, predicted for today.

Extending northward from San Luis Obispo, midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, to the Oregon state line, the hurricane raised up mountainous waves that pounded the coast line. It tore through cities and towns and raged inland for 200 miles, causing damage even in inland valleys of the Sierra Nevada.

Three men and a woman were killed by falling trees or buildings, and a coast guardsman drowned when his boat overturned.

Bridge Threatened

The gale, which centered for a time off the Farallon islands, outside of the Golden Gate, blew with a velocity of 70 miles an hour at the gate. The wind twisted the $35,000,000 Golden Gate bridge, longest single suspension span in the world, more than 12 feet out of line but the bridge swung back into place after the wind subsided.

At several points the wind tore down telephone and power lines, plunged a score of towns into darkness, and cut off others from all except short-wave radio communications.

Sacramento, California's capital, suffered the worst storm losses in its history. More than a score of persons were injured and one man was killed. Most of the city was without electric lights and street car service was halted.

The Sacramento river, within 2 feet of flood stage, was expected to rise further today if predicted rains fell.

Three Sentenced For Robberies

Young Farmhands Get Reformatory Terms; Girl Also Imprisoned

Madison—(AP)—Three young farmhands who confessed a series of holdups and automobile thefts in southern Wisconsin, and a girl arrested with their leader, were sentenced today to state reformatory terms by Superior Judge Roy H. Proctor.

Palmer Swenby, 19, of Cambridge, the leader, and Vernon Torbleau, 20, of Sun Prairie, were committed to Green Bay reformatory for terms of three to ten years on charges of assault with intent to rob while armed and masked. Melvin Johnson, 23, of Nora, was sentenced to one to two years at Green Bay for automobile theft.

Glady's Ramsey, 19, of Milwaukee, arrested with Swenby, was sentenced to one to two years in the reformatory for women at Taycheedah on charges of lewd and lascivious conduct.

Swenby faces ten prison terms and Torbleau seven but the maximum penalty in each case will be three to ten years because all the sentences run concurrently. Separate terms ranging from one to five years were imposed upon them for breaking and entering, larceny, automobile theft and other violations.

The crimes for which the young defendants were sentenced all were committed in Dane county. Charges are pending against them in other counties also.

Flood Waters Recede in Southern Part of State

Milwaukee—(AP)—Flood waters in southeastern Wisconsin receded today, freezing weather and dynamiting of ice jams bringing general improvement in conditions.

The weather bureau forecast temperatures ranging from 15 to 30 degrees above zero in this area tonight.

In northwestern Racine county, where the Fox river overflowed its banks, the flood level was falling after lapping above foundations of buildings near Michigan lake.

At Milton, flood conditions were believed somewhat after dynamiting of ice, but several streets were still under water. The Rock river at Janesville dropped a few inches.

Dynamiting of ice jams on the upper Milwaukee river in Milwaukee returned it to its channel today.

Germans Are Ordered to Report Activity Abroad

Berlin—(AP)—A Nazi decree published today requires Germans remaining abroad more than three months to report their movements to the nearest consulate or risk loss of citizenship.

The preamble said the decree was for the purpose of "gathering in all German citizens abroad to cultivate relations with the homeland."

Senators From Dairy, Livestock States Delay Vote on Farm Measure

Jackson Quizzed On Qualifications For New Position

Never Desired 'to Change Government in Any Way,' He Says

Washington—(AP)—Robert H. Jackson told a senate committee examining his qualifications today to be President Roosevelt's solicitor general, that he did not leave private law practice for government service with any desire "to change the government of the United States in any way."

Closely questioned by members of a senate judiciary subcommittee on his opinions regarding the supreme court, democracy, and the constitution, Jackson summed up his constitutional views by saying:

"All I desire is that the government of the United States function in such a way as to be the greatest benefit to the greatest number of its people."

Senator Austin (R-Vt.), reading from speeches Jackson made attacking the growth of monopolistic practices in "big business," asked if he still believed his statement that the supreme court trend was toward a "veto" of legislative enactments.

Jackson replied that recent decisions of the supreme court had changed his situation. He cited the public utility holding company law which he said most utilities had refused to obey until the supreme court passes on its validity.

Austin asked Jackson if he thought there was an "implacable" attitude on the part of the supreme court against the New Deal.

"Certainly not," Jackson replied. "Everybody knows that the situation has changed. He said that previously some members of the court had shown that the objectives of the New Deal 'offended' their moral principles."

Diplomat Visits Ruth Rubens in Russian Prison

Soviet Judicial Officials Are Present to Censor Interview

Moscow—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens of New York, pale from two months imprisonment, talked for an hour and 15 minutes today with Roy W. Henderson, United States charge d'affaires, but apparently was able to impart little of her account of her arrest on suspicion of espionage.

Soviet judicial authorities were present to censor the interview. Mrs. Rubens was permitted to answer only questions approved by an examining judge of the soviet military tribunal.

Henderson declined to tell what took place during his visit to the grim old Butirka prison outside Moscow until he had made his report to the state department.

It was understood Mrs. Rubens had to keep silent concerning details of her arrest. Her visitors gained the impression she would be held in prison for a considerable time.

Russians Present

Present in addition to the American were the judge, a representative of the soviet foreign office and an official who acted as interpreter.

Questions were put by Henderson in English and translated for the benefit of the judge, who then gave a refused permission for Mrs. Rubens to answer.

It was understood the judge found objectionable certain lines of questioning intended to draw out her detailed story of her arrest here Dec. 9, and that such points as to whether she was served with a warrant as provided by soviet law had to go unanswered.

The woman was identified positively by Henderson as the person to whom was issued a valid American passport in the name of Ruth Marie Rubens. When arrested she was traveling on another passport, not valid, as "Mrs. Donald L. Robinson."

The "Donald L. Robinson" with whom she had come to Russia was arrested as a spy at Sverdlovsk in the Ural mountains Dec. 2.

Wright Murder Trial Is Nearing Completion

Los Angeles—(AP)—Paul A. Wright, confessed slayer of his wife and his friend, John Kimmel, heard himself branded by the prosecution as a "moral leper," and by his counsel, Jerry Giesler, as a "puppet of the fates" as final arguments brought his trial near its close today.

J. Miller Leavy, assistant prosecutor, castigated the former airport president for "dragging through muck and mire" the character of his victims. He ridiculed what he called the "fantastic defense of unconsciousness."

Giesler pictured Wright as head of $2,000,000 Union Air terminal on Nov. 9, when Mrs. Wright and Kimmel were slain—a man with "everything to lose and nothing to gain," and no motive whatever for the shooting other, Giesler said, the scene Wright found in his living room shocked him "into temporary unconsciousness."

Most of Giesler's argument today concerned Wright's mental state at the time of the tragedy.

The case was expected to reach the jury late today or early tomorrow.

Suspect Microbe Murder Plot to Slay Diplomats

Bayonne, France—(AP)—French police studied today what they described as a Spanish insurgent plot to assassinate with microbes Spanish government representatives in France.

The investigation resulted from clues uncovered after questioning of Marquis Antonio de Portago, who was held on a charge of using a false passport to cross the Franco-Spanish frontier at Hendaye, France.

Evidence of smuggling arms into France for the C. S. A. R., rightist revolutionary organization, also was involved, officers stated.

Besides the Marquis, who described himself as a cousin of the former King Alfonso of Spain, three other Spaniards were in custody: Jesus Martin, 27; Jose Estorasa, 38; and Joaquin Aranas, age not given.

The investigators emphasized that the four men were held solely on false passport charges. Meanwhile, test tubes of "poisonous bacilli," which police stated they found in Martin's car, were sent to Paris for analysis.

Small Business Promised Help in Obtaining Loans

Administration Expected To Air Details Within 10 Days

Washington—The administration extended a virtual promise today to help small business men borrow money.

Although details were withheld pending further study, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was reported ready to disclose the loan arrangements within a week or 10 days.

His intention was made known yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Roper, who was host to a thousand small businessmen at last week's turbulent conference.

Speculation on the proposal from mere continuation of R. F. C. lending to elaborate systems of new federal credit agencies and federal insurance of private loans to business.

Usually well informed officials said they "guessed" the administration was not ready to do anything more drastic than to extend and possibly liberalize the type of lending which the R. F. C. has been doing for more than three years.

Over-Cautious Setup

Under the past R. F. C. program, industrial loan authorizations totaled about $190,000,000, of which about $109,000,000 was actually loaned. This setup, however, was described as overcautious by the small business delegates, who suggested either federal insurance or direct loans from another agency.

The insurance idea was urged today by Senator Claude Pepper (D-Fla.), who introduced a bill to authorize the R. F. C. to do the insuring.

His proposal would permit the R. F. C. to guarantee bank loans to businessmen up to the $100,000 for five years, provided the loan were backed by real estate or other property worth 125 per cent of the amount of the loan.

The banks would be permitted to charge a maximum of 6 per cent interest plus a maximum of one per cent service charge, and the R. F. C. would collect an insurance premium of one-half to one per cent.

Naval Program Is Called War Threat

"nothing but a speech," Representative Maverick (D-Texas) said the rest of the bill was unnecessary because most of its objectives could be attained by the existing national defense act.

The bill would empower the president to fix a ceiling for prices in event of hostilities. The tax section, of which Maverick complained, would direct the treasury to make a continuing study on which to base a wartime tax structure which would ban profits "in excess of a fair, normal return."

In an effort to meet organized labor's objections, Chairman May (D-Ky.) introduced a new bill from which references to labor and "service" had been eliminated. Maverick said, however, wages still could be controlled because the word "compensation" was left in the new bill either by accident or design.

Representative Boileau (P-Wis.) asserted members of a house liberal bloc would not vote for a bill to prevent wartime profiteering unless it actually would do so.

Tokio—A Japanese naval spokesman indicated today Japan would endorse a world naval agreement limiting the number of warships of major powers.

"If the powers would approach Japan with the idea of quantitative limitation, we would be glad to make a favorable impression," the spokesman said in a discussion of means to end the threat of a world naval building race.

Giving his personal view of Japan's disagreement in principle with the request by the United States, Great Britain and France for Japanese naval building information, the spokesman said:

"It would in effect bind our country with qualitative limitation, and if we refuse, then the powers concerned are going to make it a pretext for expansion on imaginary grounds that we also are expanding."

Japanese Position

Qualitative limitation (limiting the size of warships) would be in contrast to Japan's stand at the London naval conference, he said.

The 1936 London naval treaty limits warships to 35,000 tons, and cruisers, to 8,000 tons. The three inquiring powers seek to learn whether Japan is constructing or intends to construct men-of-war above these limits. (Japan is not an adherent to the treaty, from which signatories are freed if its restrictions are exceeded by any power.)

Authoritative sources have said the Japanese government would refuse the information on her naval building, in notes which may be handed to the ambassadors of the inquiring nations on Friday.

"Cannot Sit Idly By"

The naval spokesman, questioned today whether Japan might make an exception of her policy of secrecy to prevent a world naval race, said:

"If the Japanese principle of non-munition, and non-aggression is trusted, there is no danger of Japan starting a naval race. However, if other powers build and menace our security, Japan cannot sit idly by."

A brief naval announcement said 265 Chinese planes were shot down on the ground and 69 Japanese planes were lost since the conflict in China began last July 7.

American Money Value Is Increased in Mexico

BY CARL W. MASON

Valles, Mexico—The trail rider or other motor traveler who visits Texas and has the time required and falls to make a trip into old Mexico misses one of the rarest opportunities that can come to a tourist. The journey is easy, safe and inexpensive for a trailer nomad. Now is the time to see these virgin primitive regions just opened by the new Pan-American highway before the swift march of commercialization and imitation have spoiled the picture of true untouched Mexican life now unrolled before the visitors over hundreds of miles of the most varied scenery to be found on the continent.

Is it feasible to drive a trailer through Mexico? I have passed more trailers going north or south today than will be seen in Appleton in a month. Although we have traversed several mountain passes in the two days and 473 miles since leaving Laredo on the Rio Grande river boundary of south Texas, the trailers have rolled along smoothly and without effort, rivaling the speed of the unattached cars, and even the most timid drivers soon bowl along with as much confidence as on the highways nearest home. Only a few simple common sense rules need to be followed to insure a safe and pleasant passage. One rule is to see that the car, especially the brakes, is in good order before leaving the United States, as garages are far apart in Mexico and often lack in equipment for making complicated repairs. Service stations are infrequent and the wise motorist fills up the tank at most of the important towns, never leaving such the gauge registering low. After leaving Nuevo Laredo on the Mexican side we traveled 45 miles yesterday before I saw the familiar gas pump of a filling station. Most of the way we passed over rolling brush desert with few signs of life. Other such stretches were encountered farther south. Mexican gas is the white variety and inferior to American regular, causing the motorist to "ping" unpleasantly whenever it is compelled to labor a bit. Yet all the cars and trailers glide smoothly over the steepest grades without difficulty.

In many places the road is cut into a hill or mountainside and the ordinary precautions needed in such a situation anywhere are necessary. Yesterday on an abrupt rise on a service came upon a large telegraph pole which had landed 50 or 60 feet off the highway. Whether anyone was killed we were unable to learn but it seemed that no driver or passenger could have survived such a smashup without at least serious injury. Mexican messes or tequila to say nothing of other more familiar liquors are no more favorable to safe driving than is the case in the Estados Unidos. All along Texas highways are small signs bearing the sententious advice "If you drive, don't drink; if you drink, don't drive." But Mexico has not yet progressed far enough to impress this lesson and drinking establishments or cantinas are found in every town.

Last night we stopped at a fine modern appointed tourist court at Monterrey, 146 miles into Mexico. I had a good-sized room with double bed, a gas heater, a bathroom with shower, hot and cold water, all for four pesos or $1.12 in U. S. money. Tonight I have another comfortable room in a tourist court at the edge of this railroad center of 3,000 population, paying the sum of five pesos or $1.39 therefore. We dined in the large pleasant cafe downstairs for $2 a plate. That sounds luxurious and extravagant but, although the Mexicans use the dollar sign everywhere, it means the Mexican dollar or peso which, at the present rate of exchange, is worth just 28c in American money. So our meal cost only 56 cents each in the much criticized cash of Uncle Sam. The menu, served by a smiling Chinese, included soup, wafers, roast turkey, corn dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, Mexican brown beans or frijoles, diced carrots, sliced ripe tomatoes, sliced oranges and coffee. My lunch this noon set me back 20 cents and my breakfast of wheat cakes, oatmeal and cream, appetizer and coffee checked in at about 37 cents. This forenoon at one of the numerous roadside stands stretching through the great orange and grapefruit growing district centering about the city of Monterrey I bought a bag of fruit consisting of a dozen large sweet oranges, two good-sized grapefruit and four huge tangerines for 90 centavos or 9 cents American. Trail riders with their nomad homes can live considerably more economically. They are advised to lay in a good supply of canned goods, coffee and other staple and non-perishable American foods before crossing the border as such goods are higher in price here than in the United States and are not available everywhere.

Trailer Camps

One can camp as readily in odd places or the occasional small towns as in the United States, without cost. In the 10 communities of any size between Texas and Mexico City there are a few good camps. For example, at Monterrey an up to date camp is conducted alongside the Regina courts where we stopped last night. The ground is covered with crushed stone and is much cleaner than the muddy camps of the Rio Grande valley in Texas that become seas of sticky adobe mud in wet weather so that trailerists have been dragged out only with tractors in some cases within the last two months. There is excellent electric service, hot and cold water, showers, a laundry, and a service station at the gate. A high wire fence protects the trailers parked inside. I counted nine there last night, including one friend with whom I camped at Green Bay, Wis.

I am traveling with two Wisconsin couples and all our trailers have been left in Texas. However, another trailer which insures not only economy and independent comfort of a familiar kind on demand but also all the fun of trailering in the United States with the added pleasure of following it in a new land and before the eyes of a still scarcely awakened people. The Mexicans we have found are courteous and, when drawn out with a little effort, are smiling and anxious to please, to visit, to learn a little English. In almost every town or even group of fund someone who can speak at least some English and I have also acquired enough Spanish to get along and incidentally to have a good deal of fun and interest besides no doubt contributing as well to the enjoyment of my Latin acquaintances. The language is not hard to learn. I find many Mexicans glad to "trade" words with me, to our mutual profit.

Probably your trailer will return home looking like a tropical museum. Mexico is called a land of contrasts and we find it living up to its reputation. At Monterrey we slept at 1,637 feet above sea level. Our altitude tonight is 396 feet. Tomorrow we shall leap the great divide, 8,200 feet at the highest point, while during our stay in Mexico City we shall be at 6,825 feet and wear wraps every night. An endless variety of native goods are offered us at every stop.

For scores of miles we rolled over undulating stretches of dreary brush desert with the bray of the burros that roam everywhere at will the only music to break the solitude. Isolated homes of thatched adobe or walled cabins with brush or stick-fence corrals contrast with tiny towns of mud or stone or

Appleton Will Get $24,735 of Public School Aid Money

Fund Is Apportioned by State on Teacher, Equalization Bases

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Apportionment of the state's $5,200,000 public school fund, enough to satisfy 97 per cent of the claims for state aids from elementary schools on the basis of $250 for each elementary teacher, has been completed and payments will be made to county treasurers on the second Monday in March, the state department of public instruction said Tuesday.

Although the state legislature last year increased the public school fund by $100,000, the sum available had to be pro rated on the basis of 97 per cent. An additional $150,000 would have been necessary to pay all of the claims, it was pointed out. A balance of $17,937.51 was received for the payment of tuition in children's homes and supplementary apportionments.

The public school fund is apportioned on two bases: $250 for each elementary school teacher employed and meeting attendance requirements, and on an equalization basis.

$80,000 for County

Outagamie county elementary schools will get a total of $80,254, while the city of Appleton will receive $24,735, according to official computation. Outagamie county has 277 elementary school teachers.

Here are the amounts which will be paid to the rural school districts of Outagamie county, by townships: Black Creek $2,528; Bovina $1,903; Buchanan $1,323; Center $2,023; Cicero $3,737; Dale $2,217; Deer Creek $1,385; Ellington $2,653; Freedom $1,531; Grand Chute $4,482; Greenville $2,581; Hortonville $1,236; Kaukauna $7,721; Liberty $2,089; Maine $2,220; Maple Creek $870; Oneida $2,809; Osborn $1,045; Seymour $3,206; Vandenberg $485.

Amounts to cities and villages in the county follow: Bear Creek $242; Black Creek $1,827; Combined Locks $970; Hortonville $727; Kimberly $1,455; Little Chute $727; Shiocton $4,238; Kaukauna $4,607; Seymour $87,369.

Total sums apportioned to schools in counties in the Appleton area are: Calumet $22,916; Brown $77,997; Manitowoc $59,962; Shawano $71,120; Waupaca $71,524; Winnebago $87,369.

The public school fund payments represent the last state school aid disbursements to be made during this fiscal year. The public school side are for the 1937-38 school year. Recently the department distributed approximately $300,000 of common school fund income to state schools on the basis of 50 cents for each child of school age.

thatch. South of Victoria we crossed a great mesa or flat-topped table land with a tumble of similar masses scattered far and wide, descending into a wide belt of dense jungle, even at this winter period lovely with greenery, bright colored blossoms and gaily plumaged birds. We passed through desert areas, cattle growing districts, citrus belt and all the way to the coast. The side of driving and recorded all sorts of weather from the morning chill that made the overcoat a boon to the jungle heat that brought the perspiration after we crossed the Tropic of Cancer. From up-to-date English speaking Latinos who have traveled in the United States we have passed to primitive Indians who make up the mass of the population and who live today much as did their parent Aztecs and the latter's neighbors centuries ago. So it is well impossible to resist the temptation to load the trailer with a weird collection of curios and souvenirs, nor have I met the traveler who has returned without some things, many of them enough to stock a northern curio shop.

Among the many Wisconsin people we have met in Texas and Mexico were Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Schneider and family of Oklahoma street, Appleton, Wis., who recently made the Mexico City trip with their trailer with much pleasure and profit. There are five Wisconsin families gathered in this tourist court alone tonight. We met several others on the road today.

approximately three million persons have lost their jobs with private employers.

Increased Demands

"This increase in unemployment could not, of course, have been foreseen at the time the last relief appropriation was under consideration. Hundreds of thousands of newly unemployed persons have recently applied for relief work which could not be provided for them with the funds on hand. It has become increasingly clear that these needs can not be met unless employment by the works progress administration is increased immediately.

"The funds available on Jan. 1, 1938, would permit employment of an average of only 1,700,000 persons for the six months ending June 30, 1938. The number of persons on the works progress administration rolls today is 1,950,000. Funds available at this time will not only take care of the additional burden caused by the recent increase in unemployment but will require a sharp reduction in the near future of the number on the works progress administration rolls. This estimate of $250,000,000 will permit the continued employment for the next five months of the number now on such rolls, and will provide a reasonable measure of relief for those who have recently become unemployed and are in need."

Opposition Seen

The president's request may stiffen opposition to present methods of aiding the unemployed, some congressional leaders said today.

Although they expressed little doubt congress would grant the additional money, they said the request would be recalled during later debates on relief.

The crux of the argument is the Woodrum amendment, which requires the works progress administration to spread its present $1,500,000,000 throughout the present fiscal year, ending June 30.

Representative Taber (R-N. Y.), ranking Republican on the house appropriations committee, said a request for more money now would indicate "that the law to spread the relief money over the year hasn't been observed."

Representative Cochran (D-Mo.) has proposed repeal of this limitation, on the ground that the unemployment situation has changed since it was voted last spring.

Would Relief Policy

If the special relief fund is voted, Senator Austin (R-Vt.) said, "the administration should at least encourage an expression of policy indicating that relief will be administered by local agencies in the future."

Senator Byrnes (D-S. C.) said the findings of his special unemployment committee might provide ammunition for a debate on relief methods.

Critics of the relief program have

Barbershop Scene of Barker-Butter Match; Dairy Product Winner

Bill Barker, College avenue barber, likes his dairy products, but not enough to win a bet yesterday in which he contended he could consume a pound of butter in five minutes.

Barker remarked yesterday afternoon that he was particularly fond of dairy products. "Especially butter," he said, "I could sit right down and eat a pound of it in five minutes."

Kenneth H. Corbett, chamber of commerce secretary, was in the shop and offered to bet Barker $1 he couldn't prove his statement. A boy was dispatched to buy the pound of butter.

Confronted with such realism, Barker, witnesses said, tried to crawfish a bit but finally agreed he'd try it. The boy returned with the butter. It was sliced into small chunks to make it easier to consume.

A crowd gathered. Because Barker had to stop and cut a customer's hair soon after he opened up on the butter, it was agreed that the time limit would be extended to 30 minutes. At the end of that time, three-quarters of the pound was gone, but Barker showed a definite lack of interest in proceeding any further.

Today, it is said, the phone has been ringing in the barber shop. Voices ask, "Shall we send over a stomach pump?" and "Is this the creamery?" and "Did you call for a doctor?"

advocated in the past that control of aid to the needy be returned to the states; that cities be charged a fixed per cent of the cost of WPA projects, and that "waste" and "inefficiency" be eliminated from the federal relief setup.

Some Republicans in both houses or congress indicated they would support the demand for emergency relief funds.

"The people must be fed in this Democratic depression," commented Senator McNary (R-Ore), the minority leader.

The bulk of the special relief fund would go to large manufacturing centers, WPA officials indicated.

Washington—(T)—The works progress administration announced today that 44,238 persons were employed on WPA relief projects in Wisconsin the week ending Jan. 29, an increase of 494 over the preceding week. There were 64,749 employed on WPA in Michigan the week of Jan. 29, up 6,104 from the preceding week.

Await Decision On Reduction of Telephone Rates

Circuit Judge May Render Verdict on Company's Appeal Early Next Week

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—The state public service commission today awaited Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppmann's decision in one of the most important utility cases to come before the commission in recent years, involving the commission's reduction of more than $850,000 annually in the rates of the Wisconsin Telephone company.

Judge Hoppmann indicated this week that a decision in the company's appeal from the rate reduction order may be expected soon for he has scheduled other utility appeals for early next week.

Hoppmann, presiding over one branch of the Dane county circuit court in which appeals are taken from state commission orders, has been unable to hear any commission cases other than the telephone rate matter in the last two months.

Oral arguments were held in December, and the judge has since studied the voluminous records of the telephone cases, in which, if the commission is upheld, subscribers in 95 Wisconsin communities will enjoy reduction in their telephone rentals in addition to a refund of $1,017,000 for a temporary reduction from August 5, 1934, to August 4, 1935, which the company blocked by injunction.

Will Effect Rentals

Among other effects the decision will have a direct effect on telephone station rentals in the northeastern section of the state, where the Wisconsin Telephone company operates most of the local exchanges.

Appleton, for example, has more than 6,000 stations, while Green Bay subscribers are paying for more than 8,000. There are about 1,200 in DePere, 800 in Kaukauna, more than 700 in Shawano, 7,000 in Oshkosh, and more than 4,000 in Neenah and Menasha.

A summary by the public service commission yesterday shows that 51.4 of the telephone bills paid by Wisconsin business and residential users go to out of state holding companies. The Wisconsin Telephone company, which operates in 95 communities and besides has substantial holdings in several independent companies, is controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Fire Destroys Home at Village

Damage of $1,000 Caused By Fire at Hortonville Yesterday

Hortonville—Fire believed to have been caused by an over-heated chimney completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olson about 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. The loss is estimated at $800 or $1,000.

The fire was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Olson as they were leaving the home and they called the Hortonville fire department. The fire truck could not be brought near the burning building as it stood some yards off the road behind a sand pit. Firemen aided in saving most of the furnishings.

The property was owned by King and Kent Schwebbs, Hortonville.

St. Louis—The Ford Motor company's St. Louis assembly plant was closed this morning for a two-day layoff of 660 employees. Milton N. Johnson, plant manager, who attributed the shutdown to "a lack of demand for new cars," said the 90-car-a-day schedule would be resumed Monday.

Holding Company Is Real Help in Field of Banking

Any Abuses Can Be Corrected Through Regulation, Lawrence Believes

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Not long ago, President Roosevelt was talking with the press about "holding companies," and, though on one occasion he spoke of the need for abolishing holding companies in all lines of business, he later confined his new "death sentence" to holding companies in the banking field.

Since that time, I have been trying to make a study of holding companies among banks to determine the reason for their existence and just what service they perform, because, if they are the wicked things that Mr. Roosevelt thinks they are, they ought to be abolished, and if they are truly useful, then the president has been grossly misinformed and he ought publicly to acknowledge his error.

It is a serious thing to be talking about banks these days anyhow. It was loose talk about banks through RFC loans which brought us the bank holiday of just five years ago this month. Obviously, if there is something wrong with holding companies in the banking field, public hearings will have to be held, and if the banks that are owned by holding companies consider themselves stronger than their rival banks in the local communities, these facts will have to come out in the open, too.

Condition of Banks

It will be asked then: are all the banks in the various states affected so strong that their financial condition and all the details of their management can be thrown open to congressional inquiry now?

My impression is that the "holding companies" in the banking field ought to be called "helping companies" and that they are helpful rather than hurtful to the people of their communities and that there is no abuse among them which cannot be cured by wise regulation either by the federal government or the state governments or both, and that abolition of bank holding companies at this time would be a mistake.

For one thing, the total deposits of the bank holding companies are not more than about $6,000,000,000, out of the total of $50,000,000,000 in our banks, but it is a sizeable total to tamper with by legislation at this time. A careful study of the powers of the Federal Reserve board and the comptroller of the currency shows that the holding company banks are under considerable regulation already. They must submit to examination just as do other banks. "Up-stream" loans are prohibited. A holding company must get from the Federal Reserve board a permit to vote the stock of the member banks in its group, and, to obtain a permit, must make certain agreements and understandings with the supervisory authorities.

BOB BURNS AUTOGRAPHS HER SHOE

'Put it in writing,' double-jointed Melissa Mason, ganging film comedienne, told Van Buren county's pride, Bob Burns, getting his autograph on shoe sole.

Law Protects
Ample protection for the public is thus provided by law to stockholders, to depositors and to the public as a whole. What then is wrong? Is it possible that the banks of a holding company perform some service that is actually useful to their communities and which some other banks do not or cannot supply? Is this not a matter of competition rather than concentrated control?

Take one holding company which happens to be very successful in its operations. It owns virtually 100 per cent of the stock of each of its constituent banks. But the holding company itself has about 25,000 stockholders and no man or family owns as much as 6 per cent of the holding company.

In other words, the stockholders, who are scattered far and wide and who know the responsibilities of double liability that attach nowadays to the ownership of bank stocks, have organized a "helping corporation" which looks out for all the shareholders and depositors as a unit. The officers are really trustees for all these scattered stockholders and can be removed by majority vote. Capital from the "helping corporation" can flow to the member banks at any time needed.

Make Money
But the "helping corporation" actually makes money—which may possibly be its principal crime. It provides management and supervision and maintains several departments for all the member banks and thus is able to make group purchases of securities, furnish advice to the smaller banks, act on behalf of its members economically and exchange credit information and plans for economical operation and trust department procedure.

All the resources of this particular group of banks put together would not equal the resources of any one of the big New York or Chicago banks, and, if the holding company in question were dissolved, the member banks would be paying tribute to Wall street through heavier expenses not now incurred to carry on New York transactions.

Mr. Roosevelt may not know it, but his plan to abolish "helping companies" in the banking field is all at all in disfavor among the large bank who will profit by it, and if concentration is a sin, nothing has been said yet about the much larger amounts of deposits concentrated in single unit banks in the big cities.

Confine Activity
The truth is the "helping companies" insist on autonomy for each of their own member banks. They do not as a rule engage in any line of activity except banking and do not become involved, through interlocking directorates, with outside interests. But they attempt to serve a commercial area, and so successful have some of them been that they have had applications from other banks in their vicinity to be permitted to join.

Is it possible that Mr. Roosevelt wants to nationalize all the banks some day and through the RFC vote their stock in a holding company of the government, controlled by one man? The "helping companies" with their member banks are strong enough today to be independent of government influence and dictation for political purposes. If that's the real reason for the death sentence, then the public, when fully informed, will want to inquire very penetratingly into the whole subject.

This is not therefore the time to reopen queries and public discussion as to what banks are sound and what banks are unsound, something which the bank holding companies in self-defense will want to do, especially as they can for the most part prove that they are healthier than average. If there is anything wrong, the regulatory power, rather than the "death sentence," should be invoked to correct any abuses.

HE SEES WHO BUYS WHAT TOBACCO

LUCKY STRIKE
Sworn Records Show That...
WITH MEN WHO KNOW TOBACCO
BEST-IT'S LUCKIES 2 TO 1

WILLIAM D. (BILL) WHITLEY sold over 15 million pounds of tobacco last year. It's easy to see that he's an expert who knows tobacco.

So it's important to you when he says... "At 14 different markets in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, I've seen Luckies buy the best tobacco. I figure it's good tobacco that makes a good smoke. So my own cigarette is Lucky Strike!

"I've noticed, too, that independent buyers, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer, smoke Luckies more than any other brand."

Mr. Whitley is correct. For sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together. Remember: The men who know tobacco best smoke Luckies 2 to 1.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO?

When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Tasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

THE DECADENCE OF OUR MERCHANT MARINE

When the crew of an American boat staged a sitdown strike in Uruguay which was later translated into mutiny by a jury at Baltimore it was proper enough for the people to consider it an unusual exception.

When the passengers of the stranded President Hoover high and dry on a coral atoll in the Indian ocean, put to the rude necessity of resorting to primitive means to preserve life, complained of drunken misconduct upon the part of the American crew, most of us in a tolerant spirit voted it another exception.

When the American people face, however, the constant abandonment of America's magnificent trans-Atlantic liners by American passengers who prefer to sail upon French, Italian, British or German boats because of constant criticism of the lack of discipline among American crews as compared with the smart behavior and constantly courteous service elsewhere, the matter is beginning to get serious.

But when our new Ambassador to London, certainly not unsympathetic to the rights of the crews, reports to the President as Chairman of the Maritime Commission, after careful investigation and interviews with countless people, that "chaotic labor conditions are characteristic" of the American merchant marine, we have arrived at the sobering point where it is time to quit fooling. It may be true, as Mr. Kennedy asserts, that the prevailing jurisdictional strife between CIO and AFL is largely responsible for this situation but unless we are to quit our ships entirely and give up the seas to the rest of the world, together with all our business that is carried on boats, we must bring order out of this demoralizing condition.

The legal position of sailors has always been peculiar primarily because of the hazards of the deep but their condition has been so much bettered within recent years that comparisons with bygone days of the Bounty are likely to lead to ridicule.

Under the Caesars a code of maritime law was created. That code, strange to say persisted in most of its essential details until about 150 years ago when it was broadened for the purpose of making seamen even more cringing slaves than they had been.

Under the code of twenty centuries ago seamen were required to "bear with the first stroke, be it with the fist or open hand, but if the captain strikes more than one blow, the sailor may defend himself."

Throughout the Middle Ages even the code that governed the North Sea and the Baltic provided a fine for a captain who insulted his men and said, "If he strikes he ought to receive blow for blow."

But in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries these earlier and more reasonable rules were amended to provide brutal punishments, one called the "duck" in which the seaman was dragged under the keel from one side of the boat to the other. Flogging, too, became common and was termed "moderate correction."

But the United States, at least, never tolerated cruelty nor unnecessary severity where it could hunt it out and punish it. In the early days, of course, voyages were long, often extending from one to five years and insults and misconduct were likely to be forgotten or condoned before the home port hove in sight again. Occasional incidents of cruelty inflicted upon seamen stirred popular disapproval in this country. At one time a skipper was mobbed in San Francisco for mistreating his crew.

And so in 1850 congress in order to set a standard on American boats passed a law strictly prohibiting personal chastisement of men by officers.

Then along came steam, short voyages, relative safety in navigation, and only ordinary exertions required from a crew excepting under emergency. The master of the boat may confine a seaman in irons for disobedience and in an extreme case put him on bread and water. Otherwise the courts step in to handle the controversy and to fix punishment if any is required.

And so today the hours of work on boats are set by law. The watches are eight hours. Even the food allowances are fixed by statute. The size of the sleeping quarters, the number to a bathroom, everything almost is done to make for the comfort of the crew.

No longer is there any thought of cruelty visited upon them by their officers. No captain or mate thinks of flog-ing a sailor because he disobeys or misbehaves himself. The officers spend their time now praying that the crew will be considerate, or if that is too much to expect, that it won't become too rough or unreasonable.

Have we gone from one extreme to another? Have we in order to obtain decency in the way of humane treatment made of the crew petty tyrants who succeed only in making the voyage unprofitable?

There is much evidence to sustain the conviction that our laws have been so made as to invite disorder and contempt.

The principal thing proven by the course to date is that when you get far beyond sense in handling an affair of this kind you have not arrived at Utopia for the worker but rather at the point where he has destroyed his job.

APPRECIATIVE GUESTS

One would be hard pressed to hit upon an act that costs so little in money and trouble and that pays such large dividends in pleasure as the feeding of birds in winter.

Birds are friends. But they are not the sort of friends who push themselves into places where they are not invited.

That much may be said in their favor. Otherwise, and among themselves, they are a quarrelsome lot. One who invites them must expect that their visit will be marred by petty bickerings. They have little consideration for their host's feelings. The jays and the sparrows call each other names.

It is a warming feeling to watch them. They endure cold and make the best of it. They go hungry, oftentimes, and do not complain. They live out their little lives and are gone.

But they are friends in the truest sense. They do not take advantage of friendship. They ask so little.

True, they may invite a hungry acquaintance to their host's board. The acquaintance is not quite sure whether he will be welcomed. He cocks a wary eye toward the house. He decides the invitation is, perhaps, extended in good faith.

He joins the throng about the banquet board. He could be a small-town fellow in a big-city cafeteria at noon-time. He decides that if he wants to eat he has to push.

He pushes, and the others make way. It's worth trying. It costs so little. A piece of suet, some crumbs, a handful of grain, and the board is spread.

And, best of all, the birds are friends who do not talk behind the host's back. Except, perhaps, to invite others to his feasts.

What host could ask more?

MECHANICAL TALK

A London lawyer named Sir Richard Paget has made a talking machine that he is very proud of. There is an artificial larynx, tongue and palate and the air is supplied by foot-bellows. The vocal robot can say, "Hello, London—ah you there!" and "Oh, Lila, I love you!" And perhaps some other things equally intelligent and important. He says language is very simple. "Speech is only the natural result of the gestures of our mouths and the motions of our jaws. All spoken languages are absurdly primitive and unsystematic."

He seems to think Nature made a mistake in using our mouths for communication. The mouth can make only 144 gestures, he explains but the arm can produce 700,000 understandable signs. So maybe we'd better all stop talking, and just swing our arms. Ants, some naturalists say, lack voices and use the antennae on top of their heads for communication. A scientist recently suggested that bees communicate ideas by doing little pattern dances.

On the whole we humans seem to do pretty well with our mouths. All our human languages together run into many million words. And they're not accidental noises. Man has made them intentionally because he wanted them to express thought and feeling. Let Sir Richard's robot, or even Charlie McCarthy, tie that!

HOW TO WORRY

If we're going to worry, suggests a psychologist, let's be efficient about it. Let's be selfish and concentrate on our own worries, instead of worrying about other people's when we can't do anything about them. Worry with discrimination, decision and determination. And do it in the proper times and places. Don't worry in bed for example, because that isn't what beds are for.

"Give up all fear of consequences," he says, "and have complete command over your mental operations." But that doesn't sound so practical, because when people have complete command over their minds, they don't worry. Finally, "Don't let fear and imagination work together. That is bad worrying. Use reason and imagination. That is good worrying." We begin to suspect the learned gentleman is spoofing us. If we use reason and constructive imagination on problems bothering us, there won't be much worrying. That's the substitute for destructive worry—get the imagination working along constructive lines, actively doing something about troubles instead of letting them get us down.

AGE OF THE ZIPPER

It took some years for word to get around, but when the public at last found out that Colonel Lewis Walker's zipper was a better fastener, it certainly beat a path to his door. And now Colonel Walker is dead at the ripe

APPARENTLY all is not ended — the Republicans have put up candidates for the next Illinois state election. . . wonder what new money will be allocated to that state just before the people go out to vote? . . . probably of greater interest just now is whether Fritz Crisler of Princeton has taken the job at Michigan . . . and who will use the punt-pass-prayer system if he does come . . . and what if he brings Tad Wieman along with him . . . Tad is Crisler's right hand man and is the same gent whom Michigan tossed out after a losing season . . . anyway, Wisconsin could have had Fritz Crisler at the time it chose Harry Stuhldreher and, with all respect to the man at Princeton, this column is satisfied that things worked out the way they did . . .

P. S. He took the job.

The floods in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois somehow remind me to ask what happened to prevent a repeat performance in the areas along the Ohio river that were just coming out from under the big flood last year.

FAITHFUL TO THE END

(O. O. McIntyre's inscription on the monument for his dog.)

What a lovely inscription To his faithful friend, On a stone in Hartsville, "Faithful to the end!" If we could know that Of just one true friend, Life wouldn't hurt so much. "Faithful to the end."

Al Capone is described as having become slap happy from his stay at Alcatraz. While the Rock is the toughest of our prisons, and while insanity is not to be regarded as the right type of punishment, there will probably be little sympathy wasted on Al. Particularly by anyone who lived in Chicago at the time he operated there.

The presence of Justice Black on the Supreme court bench to hear arguments about the "death sentence" public utilities act may revise the case of the former Kluxer. According to precedent, Black should leave the bench temporarily as Stanley Reed has done. His remaining there gives defense attorneys a chance to make an issue of his arguments on the matter as a senator.

Well, nothing like a good rehash of the justice, particularly before election time.

Two of the cigarette companies are battling in the papers and on the air again and it reminds me of old times. Nothing like a cigarette company advertising war. It's a cinch there won't be any cigarette company price wars.

With my luck, the doc would probably make me quit smoking about the time such a war came along.

MEMORIAM FOR AN AGED MAN

(For Blossom MacF.)

So long he walked in kindness and peace Upon this earth, it hardly seemed that he Would ever leave it. . . Now Infinity Is nearer, and our troubled questions cease. We know God is and bowing to His will, We see the sunlight bless the winter day, And feel that Father is not far away. His love sheds light upon our pathway still.

When in the night, the heavy circumstance Of his last journey clutches at our breast, We will recall his voice, his loving glance, And try not to disturb his peaceful rest. By the ingratitude of little tears . . . He was our comrade for so many years! (Copyright, 1938)

Revised plans for a Neenah senior high and vocational school, to be created by the city on its property in the First ward, are expected the latter part of the week and will be presented by the architect, J. D. Chubb, to the board of education.

Earl E. O'Brien was elected scoutmaster of St. Mary Boy Scout troop at Menasha at a meeting Tuesday evening. Other officers elected were Walter Baernfield, Frank Ryan, assistant scoutmasters; Norbert LaCount, junior assistant scoutmaster; Joseph Laemrich, senior patrol leader; Eugene Rausch, Cyril Walburn, Edward Zeininger and Edward Muntner, patrol leaders; Joseph Liebl, Edward Howley, William Fleweger and Leo Mielke, assistant patrol leaders.

Edward Haas, Kaukauna, returned Wednesday evening from Milwaukee where he attended the state retail hardware dealers' convention.

Leasing of the building at 125 E. College avenue, now occupied by Goldwyn's, to John Diderich was announced today. Mr. Diderich will move his drapery store from 114 S. Oneida street to the new location about March 1.

He didn't invent the zipper. That was the work of one W. L. Hudson. Probably he didn't even think up his inspired name. But he was the financial backer and put the zipper on the market, and without him in all likelihood we'd still be toiling over hooks and eyes.

What name will social historians give to our time? No one can say. But after all, it was as simple a thing as barbed-wire fence that cut up the great western cattle ranges. The zipper deserves respect for what it may do to our habits of daily life. And Colonel Walker surely ranks as a figure in history—the man who made things zip.—New York World-Telegram.

DEATH IN ASPHYXIA

Artificial respiration by the manual prone-pressure method was discovered and given to the world—without a patent—by a physiologist, Schaefer, in 1904. At least Schaefer first published his method in England in 1904 and in the United States in 1908. Sir E. A. S. Schaefer, whose name rarely or never appears in Red Cross literature on resuscitation or life saving, although the prone-pressure method of artificial respiration, the most efficient method we have is properly known as the Schaefer method.

In the 1935 edition of their work on "Respiration" J. S. Haldane and J. B. Priestly, the distinguished authorities on the physiology of breathing, say:

"If Schaefer's method of artificial respiration is applied to a normal individual who voluntarily suspends his breathing it will be found that it is quite easy to maintain a rhythmic flow of six litres per minute of air or more into and out of the lungs.

These authors say Schaefer's method is "very efficient and can be continued for hours if necessary."

When Schaefer published his method he not only described but gave illustrations of the right way to perform artificial respiration. In the Schaefer method the subject lies prone, with both arms stretched out on the ground well above the subject's head and out of the operator's way, the subject's face turned toward one side, no pillow or other support under the subject's head or chin.

This position has three advantages for the subject. First, the elevation or drawing up of the arms lifts the thorax or chest into the most favorable position for inspiration of flow of air into the lungs. Second, any fluid, whether water or mucus, in the air-passages drains from nose or mouth by gravity. Third, the subject's tongue is not likely to drop back and obstruct the glottis or entrance to windpipe in ball-valve action, for that occurs from gravity too. Any one of these factors may spell the difference between life and death.

The method of resuscitation or artificial respiration taught by Red Cross instructors and accepted by the military public and medical authorities or pets of politicians holding jobs as public health administrators, was devised by heaven knows whom—some movie camera man, probably. It effectively robs the victim of all three of the advantages mentioned, by raising the head up and letting it rest on one of the victim's arms.

There seems to be some mystery concerning the reason why the Red Cross clings so obstinately to this fatal error in technique. The only nominal explanation I have been able to elicit is the rather absurd fear that the victim might get mud, dust or water in nose or mouth if the head were not raised off the floor or ground. One of the features of the Schaefer method is that any child can apply it in any emergency—provided the child's education has not been neglected. I contend that any child knows enough to see that mud, dust or water should not get into the subject's nose or mouth while resuscitation is being applied.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Sophomoric Education
Writer of magazine article said milk should be "softened" just as water is softened, as milk contains so much lime, and lime is more beneficial to the calf than to the human body. Is this so? (J. A. B.)

Answer—It is nonsense. A quart of milk contains perhaps 18 grains of calcium. Most people do not get enough calcium (lime) in their daily diet.

Bronchitis

Please advise whether X-ray treatment is beneficial in cases of bronchitis. (T.L.)

Answer—According to a report by Drs. Maurice Berck and Wm. Harris, in a series of cases where moderately large doses of X-ray was the sole treatment, clinical improvement in many cases was so great, as to approach practically complete cessation of cough and expectoration.

Nervous Indigestion

Please send me a list of foods, fruits and vegetables, good for nervous indigestion. (A. P.)

Answer—There is no such ailment. "Nervous indigestion" is a vague name applied to all sorts of functional or organic troubles. Instead of experimenting with diet you should forget the "nervous" fancy and have a medical examination to find out if possible what is the matter.

Your Birthday

"AQUARIUS"

If February 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m., to 12:15 p. m.; from 2:15 to 4:15 p. m., and from 8:15 to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a. m.; from 6:15 to 8:15 p. m., and from 10:15 p. m. until midnight.

Mischiefiveness may be rampant this day, resulting in many pranks being played. Annoyance will come through petty requests, and vexation through importunities and other forms of troublesome demands being made, mostly by children.

With the average person, it will be a case of, "Give an inch, he'll take an ell"; so be prepared to face this day, resisting with a line of gossip that will involve many people in a lot of trouble. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who have discovered they are "no longer or heart whole or fancy free," had better beware that outside interference does not mar their happiness this day.

If a woman and February 11 is your birthday, you ought to take an interest in social, religious and political activities. You may be very psychic and sensitive to the mental reactions of those near and dear to you. A keen sense of smell, on many occasions, may serve you well and prevent many a culinary disaster. As a professional dancer, model, artist, actress, singer, saleslady, lecturer, demonstrator, author or store manager you probably will find yourself with an income that might make you independent. A good and devoted husband should more than compensate for any sacrifices you have had to make in your matrimonial life.

The child born on February 11, must have impressed upon it the importance of accepting every educational advantage offered to it. Do what you can to encourage this youngster, for it will respond to praise; but unkind criticism is apt to have the reverse effect. Ambition most likely will spur on the Aquarian youth until it achieves its objective.

If a man and February 11 is your natal day, advancing years ought to treat you well, hardly impairing your vitality or energy. Through architecture, agriculture, mining, engineering, selling, writing theatrical work or inventing your family and friends may have ample cause to feel proud of you.

COMMUNITY CENTER

Editor Post-Crescent: Disposition of the present senior high school building after classes are transferred to the new structure came to the attention of a group of people in a recent discussion.

It is our understanding that school administration offices, the ungraded classes and orthopedic school will be housed in the vacated building and the Lincoln grade school will be converted into a city hall allowing for expansion of the public library. Little publicity has attended the projected moves and we stand corrected if misinformed.

We neither endorsed nor objected to the above plan but wondered whether the high school does not provide a solution to the community center problem. The need of a public recreational building is recognized by all thinking citizens, but estimated costs of site and construction have made the proposition prohibitive.

The fact that the high school was erected with public funds and is public property establishes the public's right to use of it.

A strong argument advanced in many circles is the contention that youth seeks diversion in taverns, ballrooms and theaters because "there's no place else to go." Removal of a partition separating two large classrooms would provide an adequate dance floor. One to which there would be no admission. One to where there would be supervision. One to where there would be no need to take the family car and risk serious or fatal accident.

Second floor rooms would probably be welcomed by sectional groups of convention gatherings, Boy Scout troops, the local Camera club, Izaak Walton leagues and other civic organizations.

The Appleton Forum is already finding occasion to use the high school auditorium. Educational motion pictures, Little Theater programs and other amateur productions, university extension entertainers and lectures could be presented for the benefit of the public.

The gymnasium, while small, offers adequate facilities for basket-

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Regardless of whether the foreign policy of the government is clear to Senators Johnson and Borah, who questioned it, the state department officially stands by a summary made by Secretary of State Hull last July 16.

The summary comes in 14 points. Here they are, lumped together wherever it requires several sentences to cover one point. Just to help explain, the country is proceeding under each phase are attaching sample instances here and there.

1. This country constantly and consistently advocates maintenance of peace. (That always has been so.)

2. We advocate national and international self-restraint. (Undoubtedly every nation would publicly subscribe to that.)

3. We advocate abstinence by all nations from use of force in pursuit of policy and from interference in the internal affairs of other nations. (The Kellogg outlawry - of - war - treaty, the Pan-American non-intervention treaty, the condemnation of Japanese invasion of China, likewise the Italian invasion of Ethiopia.)

Treaty Sanctity

4. We advocate adjustment of problems in international relations by processes of peaceful negotiation and agreement. (Hague and Pan-American arbitration treaties, Kellogg Pact.)

5-6-7-8. We advocate faithful observance of international agreements. Upholding the principle of the sanctity of treaties we believe in modification of provisions of treaties, when need therefore arises, by orderly processes carried out in a spirit of mutual helpfulness and accommodation. We believe in respect by all nations for the rights of others and performance by all nations of established obligations. (No nation would disclaim those high, moral purposes, and as a matter of fact this country has tentatively agreed to a revision of the Panama Canal treaty.)

9-10-11. We advocate steps toward promotion of economic security and stability the world over. We advocate lowering or removing of excessive barriers in international trade. We seek effective equality of commercial opportunity and we urge upon all nations application of the principle of equality of treatment. (Reciprocal trade treaties. Open-door in China, monetary stabilization agreement with England and France.)

12. We believe in limitation and reduction of armament. (Naval limitation treaties of 1922, 1930 1936, and many official statements.)

Armament Policies

13. Realizing the necessity for maintaining armed forces adequate for national security, we are prepared to reduce or to increase our armed forces in proportion to reductions or increases made by other countries.

(The administration, right or wrong, surmises that potential enemies are building bigger fleets. Therefore this country is building fast and promising faster.)

14. We avoid entering into alliances or entangling commitments but we believe in cooperative effort by peaceful and practicable means in limitation of the principles hereinafore stated. (This is where the trouble lies with Senators Borah and Johnson. The country, by its neutrality act, is theoretically pledged to hold up in time of war. The administration questioning that policy, prefers to exercise the nation's influence in keeping other nations at peace. Borah and Johnson like neither role of gopher nor international Pollyanna.)

Tortoise Shell Carries Name of Daniel Boone
Elmira, N. Y.—(7)—The inscription, "1787, D. Boone," on the bottom of a hollow tortoise shell may eventually prove to be an authentic signature of the famous Indian fighter, says Kenneth J. Reynolds, the shell's owner.

Reynolds said the shell was found by his stepfather on the bank of Otter Creek, Lincoln County, Pa., a region known to have been visited by Boone, who was born near Reading, Pa.

Prof. Agnes M. Orison of the Elmira college science department, who has examined the shell, believes that the signature may be authentic.

The library could be converted into a lounge where women's groups could sponsor card parties or arrange art exhibits. Current literature could be provided. Dart ball, ping pong and billiard tables could be placed in another room and a full possibility, bowling alleys installed in the basement.

YOUR Income Tax

CAPITAL GAINS AND LOSSES

Section 117 of the Revenue Act of 1936 deals with the manner or method of taking into account in computing net income gains and losses resulting from the sale or exchange of capital assets as computed and recognized under sections 111, 112, and 113.

Section 117 (a) provides that in the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation only the following percentages of the gain or loss recognized upon the sale or exchange of a capital asset shall be taken into account in computing net income: 100 per cent if the capital asset has been held for not more than 1 year; 80 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 1 year but not for more than 2 years; 60 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 2 years but not for more than 5 years; 40 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 5 years but not for more than 10 years; 30 per cent if the capital asset has been held for more than 10 years. Section 117 (b) defines capital assets as property held by the taxpayer (whether or not connected with his trade or business), expressly excluding therefrom stock in trade of the taxpayer or other property of a kind which would properly be included to the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business. In this definition the length of time the asset was held by the taxpayer is disregarded. Section 117 (c) provides the rules for determining the period for which a capital asset has been held. These provisions are in general to the effect that, where property is acquired in an exchange and the property so acquired retains the old basis on which to compute gain or loss or whether property is acquired from another person and the property retains the same basis on which to compute gain or loss as it had in the hands of the person from whom it was so acquired, the period for which the property disposed of in the exchange or the period during which the property was held by such former owner is also to be included in determining the period for which the property is held for the purpose of section 117 (a). Section 117 (d) provides a very important limitation affecting all taxpayers (including corporations, except with respect to banks and trust companies), that is, that losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be allowed only to the extent of $2,000 plus the gains from such sales or exchanges.

Section 117 (e) provides that gains or losses from "short sales" of property, and gains or losses attributable to the failure to exercise privileges or options to buy or sell property, shall be considered as gains or losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets. In the former the percentage of the gain or loss to be taken into account shall be computed according to the period for which the property delivered was held. In the latter the gains or losses shall be considered as arising from sales or exchanges of capital assets held for 1 year or less.

Section 117 (f) provides that amounts received upon the retirement of corporate bonds and similar evidences of corporate indebtedness, with interest coupons or in registered form, shall be considered as amounts received in exchange therefor, thus giving to any gain or loss thereby resulting to the holder the status of capital gain or loss, as the case may be.

Tree Planting Program to Be Continued in Village

Little Chute—At a meeting of the members of the village board Tuesday evening it was decided to continue the planting of trees through-out the village this spring. This work was begun last year. Persons wishing to purchase trees for their property may place the order with any member of the village board. A nursery representative was present at the meeting and plans were discussed in regard to the planting of a few more shrubs in the local park.

Lawn seed will also be sown and the general condition of the park will be greatly improved within a few months. The bids on two 900 by 20 ten ply truck tires for the Four Wheel drive truck which were submitted by local dealers were opened and read and the bid was given John Oudenhoven. His bid was the lowest being $115.90 for

England's Demand Upon Gloucester Turn Soldier Prince to Social Lion

London—(AP)—Gone are the days when Henry, the 37-year-old Duke of Gloucester could live his own life and remain so little known to the public that often he was dubbed the "mystery man" of British royalty.

Actually, the closest the duke ever got to mystery, was in a book. He eats up mystery stories. He always was a shy, retiring fellow who disliked public appearances and got out of them whenever he could.

That's All Over
The exception in the navy-minded Windsor household, Gloucester always was the soldier prince. He was immensely happy as a real professional soldier who had worked his way to a majorship in the Tenth Hussars.

But that's all changed. No longer is the duke unrecognized when he appears in public. The duke goes here, the duke goes there, and the great white light of publicity beats on him almost as brilliantly as it does on the king.

It all started when Edward walked out, leaving the royal family short-handed. Every remaining man was expected to do his duty. So Gloucester (pronounced Glos-ter with the "o" as in Oscar) and the Duke of Kent were compelled to drop everything and take some of the royal chores off the new king's heavily-laden shoulders.

Gloucester is third in line of succession to the throne. He follows Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, daughters of the king and queen.

Had Tasted Fame
For Gloucester, who loved the army and prided himself on being the only member of the royal family with a "regular job," it was a tough break.

He knew what he was getting into, for he had had a taste of it when the late King George V became seriously ill in 1929.

News of the illness, incidentally, reached Gloucester, who is the king's third son, while he was deep in the African jungle on a hunting trip. His homeward dash made him almost as much of a front page figure as his ailing father.

During the king's convalescence Gloucester went to Tokyo for him and bestowed the order of the Garter on the Japanese emperor. That was in the balmy days of Anglo-Japanese relations.

Rides Hard and Fast
On his way home, through Canada, the duke stopped off in Vancouver for a polo game and broke his collar bone when his pony slipped and reared.

This was only one of many spills Gloucester has taken with horses, although he somehow never has become known for them as the Duke of Windsor was in his Prince of Wales days. The spills, it is said, are not due to lack of horsemanship. Gloucester rides as he drives a motor car—hard and fast.

The duke acted for his father again in 1930 when he went to Ethiopia for the Addis Ababa coronation of Haile Selassie. Then in 1934, with the help of 45 trunks and suitcases and 36 special detectives, he toured Australia, making a hit with his "courtesy, friendliness and informality."

He's a fine figure of a man—a six-footer with broad shoulders—with a Germanic cast of countenance. He has a quick mind and a keen wit. He was educated at Eton and at Trinity College, Cambridge. He joined the 10th Royal Hussars (the Prince of Wales's Own) in 1921.

A Royal Puppet
He has been mentioned several times for the governorships of South Africa or northern Ireland, but he has turned to his soldiering. His enthusiastic interest in sports and an outdoor life was the common ground on which he met and in 1935 married Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott, 36-year-old daughter of a wealthy old Scotch family. They have no children.

They settled down in the royal pavilion at Aldershot and he continued his military studies at the staff college. He was a popular officer and well on the way to com-

Good Tasting Yeast Tablet Promotes Vital Nutrition
Many people are confused by claims regarding vitamins and their importance to preserving health. For your own good you should know these facts about this vital subject: Three vitamins—B, C and D—are lacking in many refined foods. Deficiency of Vitamin B may mean poor digestion, constipation, even nervous disorders. Without Vitamin C, skin, hair and nails fall to get proper nutrition. Too little Vitamin D impairs the structure of teeth and bones, decreases intestinal waste-elimination and resistance to infection. Yeast is the richest known source of Vitamin B. A food supplement of these 3 vitamins—A, C and D—helps to combat low vitality due to lack of vitamins. It is a concentrated source of VITAMIN B. Write for free information to J. H. RICHARDS, 1000 N. Romance Disappears if Proposal is Deferred

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—For two years I have been going with a young man who tells me that he loves me, but because of certain obligations he cannot marry for a long time. We are not engaged. We don't even keep company, although I see him regularly once or twice a week, and I have no assurance that even if I waited for him several years that he will marry me. I could go out with many other men. I have opportunities to do so all the time. But I am not happy with anybody but him. The question is: Can my love last? And can it be relied upon to hold this man until he wakes up and sees that marriage is desirable? I am 26 years old and I am in a dilemma. I don't know whether to hang on or give up. What do you think?
BEWILDERED.

Answer:
I think that your boy friend is one of the numerous men whose attentions are without intention and that he has the remotest idea of ever marrying you. He finds you pleasant and agreeable. He likes a pretty girl to play around with and to make a little near love to, and that's all.

As long as you are sap enough to let him monopolize you he will do it until he gets tired. Then some fine day when you have got to be an old story he will kiss and ride away, or he will marry some strange girl and you will be left flat.

As to your own affection lasting through a long period of waiting, that is doubtful because romance and sentiment get to be pretty thin if they are stretched out too long. But you certainly can't rely upon your love to hold him and make him eager to marry you some years hence when he is lukewarm about the matter now. No woman ever yet awakened love in a man's heart by her love for him. Quite the contrary. Most men get fed up on the affection that is thrust upon them and, generally speaking, the less a woman cares for a man, the more he cares for her. So your hope that just by patiently waiting for this indifferent love you can turn him into an ardent swain is out.

Don't ever take it seriously when a man tells you that he loves you unless he backs up the assertion with a bona fide proposal of marriage. That is just men's line. It is their way of making themselves agreeable and it doesn't mean a thing unless it is clinched by a will-you-be-mine. Even when a man has to ask a girl to wait a long time for him he tries to bind her to him by a means business. He doesn't leave it at loose ends, with a vague expression of affection.

I think any girl is very foolish who gives up all her other men friends for one man, even if she is engaged to him, because if she gets tired of waiting or he changes his mind she loses out and it is a hard thing for her to ever get back into circulation again.

Dear Miss Dix—Why does a boy, when he is out with a girl, want to talk about his past affairs and his old girl friends? Is it because he thinks by so doing he will make a big impression on the girl, or does he just like to hear himself brag about his conquests? As for myself, when a boy starts to tell about how all the girls seem to fall in love with him and what trouble he has in getting rid of them, it is a signal for me to say good-bye.

Duplicate Requires Consistency

BY ELY CULBERTSON
I know no other game in which consistency leads to better results than it does in duplicate bridge. Players with a flare for the spectacular have little or no chance at this game. They had better confine their talents to rubber bridge, in which one enormous swing in a session can put them securely into the plus column. Duplicate requires steady plugging. No one hand, in fact, no three hands, can pile up such a lead that, for the rest of the session, sloppy bridge is permissible. Let it be thought that I am more enthusiastic about duplicate than I am about rubber bridge, I hasten to state that this is not a fact. Rubber bridge has its own special advantages, the greatest, in my opinion, being that it is more personal in its conflict. You do not play against the invisible enemy, "average," as you do in duplicate, but against flesh and blood opponents. Then, too, the part score situations in rubber bridge lead to fiercer battles than can be found at duplicate. I am merely saying that consistency is an indispensable attribute at match point play. Take the following hand, for example. There was nothing spectacular about North's bidding. He simply made the right bid at the right time. But it is decisions like these that bring home top scores.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match point duplicate.

WEST	NORTH	EAST
♠ 4	♠ A K 10 8 4 3	♠ 9
♥ 3	♥ 9 7 5	♥ 8 4 3
♦ 8 5	♦ J 10 6	♦ K Q 10
♣ 7 4	♣ A 9 8	♣ K Q 5 3 2

The bidding:
North Pass East Pass South Pass West Pass
1 spade Pass 1 heart Pass
2 no trump Pass Pass Pass Pass
3 no trump Pass Pass Pass Pass

It was North's second bid that earned the prize. Too many players, I fear, would fail to bid three no trump in North's position. As a matter of fact, in a large duplicate game of sixteen tables in a New York club only three North-South teams arrived at this final contract. At other tables North, after South's one no trump, usually chose to bid three spades. Some Souths dropped this bid, since they felt they had done all they could do by opening the hand and then bidding one no trump. Others went to four spades, still others bid three no trump. In these last cases, however, North spoiled everything by persisting to four spades, which could not be made. East, in each case, opened the diamond king and the defenders collected two diamond tricks, one heart and a club, even though North could run the spade suit without loss. At three no trump none of the declarers had a trick, regardless of West's opening lead. Two, indeed, made an extra trick when West chose to open a low heart.

It is strange that the virtue of a three no trump bid by North, rather than any other bid, should not have been apparent. South had bid North's singleton suit, hence there was no reason for North to fear lack of stoppers in that suit. North knew that South would not bid a no trump with only a singleton spade, and with even a low doubleton in the South hand there was every reason to expect five spade tricks at no trump. With six possible losers in diamonds and clubs, North could not be at all sure of fulfilling a ten trick contract in spades. And even if he could, there was a decided chance that just as many tricks could be made at no trump, for a better match point score.

More About the Buddha

The wife of Gotama wondered about his strange request. She did not want him to leave her, and wonder about the world, but she thought perhaps he might learn great truths which would do good to mankind.

The king was even more against the plan. He placed guards at the gates of the palace grounds, and told them to let no one pass without an order from him.

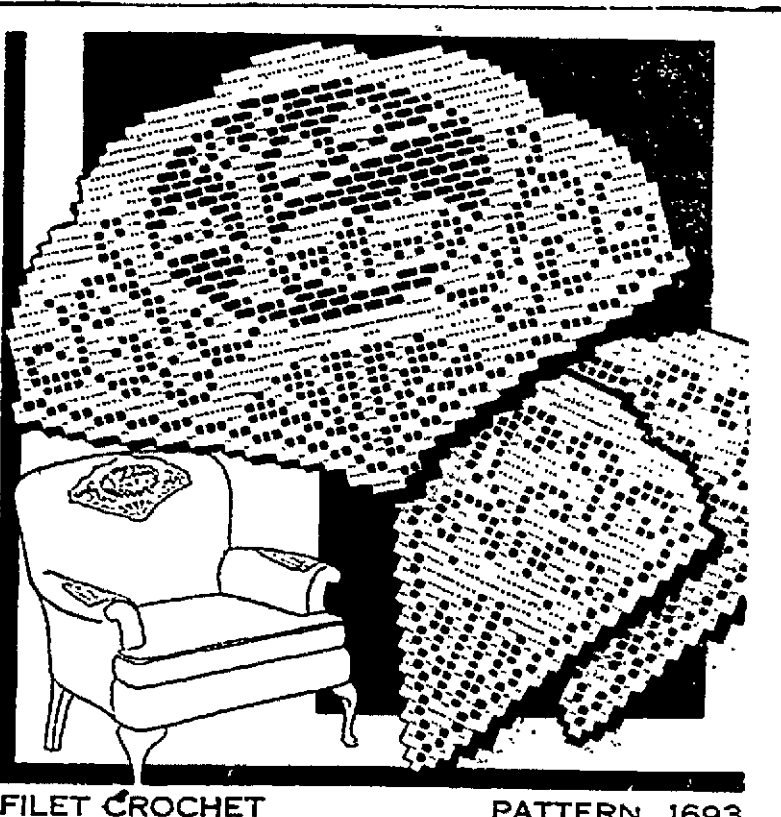

Statue of the Buddha seated. "I will do anything you ask," said the king. "If you will stay with us in the palace." "I cannot stay," replied his son. "Unless you grant me four favors." "What are they?" "First, that I shall never grow old. Second, that I shall always

Moles No Detriment To Beauty

BY ELSIE PIERCE
I quote this letter as an indication of the self-consciousness of the very young:
"I have read your interesting column for a long time and found several good and helpful hints in it. Now I have a problem that is becoming rather serious, to me at least. Please do help for this is a problem not every woman has to face, and only few people know much about.
I am sixteen. In our family a lovely complexion is almost traditional. My features are good; also figure; my hair and eyes very attractive, but my face is covered with moles. They are the small, flat kind, none of them very large. But to my estimation they are very noticeable and repulsive and make me very self-conscious. I cannot afford expensive treatment but I surely would like to get rid of them some way. They are only on my face and neck." J. L.

Small moles used to be called "beauty marks." Like a slight sprinkling of freckles, they were considered quite piquant. Certainly they add a note of distinction—if one can forget about them. And certainly they are not reason enough for self-consciousness in an intelligent young woman.

Before attempting to remove them I would suggest that J. L. try one of the bluish covering make-up preparations on the market. And if this is not enough to satisfy her the best advice I can give is that she consult her physician. No treatment should be attempted at home. The expense involved will depend upon the treatment that the physician feels is best. Still further, the physician may even rule out removal either by electrolysis or acid, and again I say follow his advice.

I am sorry I cannot offer more definite help; but surely, J. L., with a pretty face and figure there is much to be thankful for. Don't let the little matter of moles distress you so!

Children Need Rest After Tiring Day of Classwork

BY ANGELO PATRI
Children who go to school and do the work required of them are workers, and their work tires them. Most people think of school as a place where children sit, or play, or just stay. They forget that sitting still is against a child's nature; that listening is fatiguing work; that trying to do things for the first time, and that to a high standard, is exhausting labor. They do not seem to know that a school child is tired enough to need rest at the end of his day.

Just as soon as you put your things away, Mary, I wish you would get at the dishes, and then tidy the dining-room. I've been so busy today. Now hurry along, De. And stop in Helen's room and pick things up there. I did the bed, but I had to leave the rest for you."

"Goodness, mother. Give me a few minutes rest. As soon as I come into the house you have a hundred things for me to do. Why can't Helen pick up her own things?"

"Helen works at the office hard all day. When she comes home she is tired."

"And when I come home I'm rested up, I suppose? You think because I go to school I have nothing to do but enjoy myself. I have to work like a dog to keep up to my classes. I've got four hours of homework to do tonight yet. Helen will doll up and go to the movies with Pete. But she is tired. Poor Helen. She'll get up tomorrow morning and start for the office sometime before half-past eight. I'll be on my way with a good two hours work done before that. But Helen is tired. I'm just sick of being the family horse."

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself to talk like that to your mother, or to speak like that about your sister. All you do is go to school and help me a little with the housework—"

"That's all I said I did and I said that I was tired. But you didn't hear that part."

Mary disappeared to cry it out in her room.

She, and all the boys and girls of high school age are tired after a school day. Of course their mothers and fathers are tired, too, and the sisters and brothers who work come home tired. But why forget the school children? Why think of them as coming in fresh and gay to do all the odds and ends left over by the rest of the family?

In the household let each do his share. Arrange things so that each one leaves as little work for someone else to do as need be. The out-workers can leave their rooms in order so that there will be no picking up. It doesn't take many minutes to hang up a pair of pajamas and a bathrobe, to put a towel in the hamper, set the dressing-table to rights. But it takes a lot of time and energy for someone to do those chores for five or six people at the end of a working day.

Give every homecoming school child fifteen minutes of quiet and a light lunch. After he has refreshed himself and begun to chirp up a bit, he can do a few chores. But consider him. Don't think him tireless because he can play ball, or dance the highland fling at recess time.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers in the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Early Diagnosis Important to Curb Pneumonia Deaths

Ranks Fifth on List of Causes of Fatalities,
Society Claims

Madison — Effective treatment of pneumonia depends on early diagnosis, the state medical society warned this week.

"Early diagnosis is important not only to tell whether the condition is pneumonia but to determine the type which indicates to the physician the best method of treatment. Advances in medical science have reduced the number of deaths, the complications during sickness and the permanent damage caused by pneumonia.

"In Wisconsin pneumonia ranks fifth on the list of causes of death. It is exceeded by heart disease, cancer, deaths by violence, and cerebral hemorrhage. Physicians of the state of Wisconsin have increased their efficiency in dealing with this disease and are joining with the state board of health and other agencies in bringing information to the public telling them how to safeguard themselves from the ravages of pneumonia.

"Pneumonia usually begins with a cold or during the period of weakness and physical depression following. Seventy-five per cent of the pneumonia cases develop from colds. Early symptoms may be a chill, discomfort or pain in the chest, and difficulty in breathing. The new scientific treatment in pneumonia calls for immediate treatment. The treatment of the first day or two of the disease determines in a large percentage of the cases, what the outcome will be. The very inception of pneumonia is actually a critical emergency.

"Go To Bed"
"A cold is never really just a cold. It is an infection which may be any one of several kinds, usually contracted from a friend or acquaintance who sneezes or coughs at us. Most colds respond quickly

By Lichty

"Since I took that mind-reading course, I save myself lots of extra bother—now I know who's gonna tip and who ain't."

to prompt medical attention. The first order of the physician is always 'Go to bed.'
"As pneumonia is very often the result of a cold a few suggestions are timely in preventing colds. Avoid colds by observing precautions:
"Avoid temperatures of over seventy degrees in your working and dwelling rooms.
"Avoid over eating. Include plenty of milk, orange juice, leafy vegetables, eggs and salads in your winter diet.
"Get plenty of sleep.
"Keep away from persons with a cold.
"Keep kidneys and bowels in good working order.
"Drink at least six glasses of water a day.
"Dress according to the weather.
"Keep your feet dry.
"Bathe frequently.
"If you find your throat sore or nose running, take a teaspoonful of baking soda in a glass of water three times a day and add more milk and orange juice to your diet.
"Wash your hands before eating and keep fingers away from mouth and nose.

"Prevention is better than cure. No cold is a slight cold. Go to bed. Stay there until strong again. Send for a physician before you think it is necessary. These are cardinal rules for protection against pneumonia."

Sebastian Made Murder Threats, State Contends

Neighbor Says He Heard Defendant Say He 'Might As Well Kill Her'

Green Bay—The state this noon apparently closed its case in circuit court charging Philip Sebastian, 67, Oneida farmer, with first degree murder in the ax slaying of his wife, Anna, 52, Allan V. Classon, special prosecutor, said he did not expect to call any more state witnesses to the stand and defense witnesses were to testify this afternoon.

Classon charged that after the scream which ended the quarrel between Sebastian and his wife in their 1-room home in the town of Hobe, Brown county, last Sept. 9, Sebastian had left the house apparently uninjured. Sebastian also had threatened to kill her, the prosecutor said.

Bernard Bjerkvold, a neighbor of the Sebastians, testified that Sebastian had told him that he "might as well kill her." Sebastian made this statement to Bjerkvold, he said, four or five times.

Tells of Threat

Gust Ness, who had rented a horse from Sebastian for cultivating last summer, testified that as he was returning the horse to the barn, Sebastian entered, picked up an ax and said:

"The... guess I kill her with ax."

Mrs. Joel Reed and her daughter, Leona, who live in a house near the Sebastian home said they heard voices which indicated the two were quarreling. Mrs. Reed said she exclaimed to her daughter:

"I'll bet anything he's killing grandma." (Mrs. Sebastian was known to neighbors by that name.) Sebastian then came out of the house, Mrs. Reed told the jury, looked around, went to the barn and then went back to the house. He again came out, looked around and went back in, she said. She testified that he was not cut and that she saw no blood on him at this time.

Reveals Killing

In the meantime Mrs. Reed's husband returned with a load of wood, she continued, and Sebastian then came over saying:

"I killed grandma, she tried to kill me."

Sebastian then told Reed to call the sheriff. Sebastian was then bleeding, Mrs. Reed said.

Testimony given yesterday afternoon revealed that either one of the two ax wounds inflicted upon Mrs. Sebastian, one on the face and one at the back of the neck, was sufficient to have caused her death.

Last Sept. 29 Mrs. Sebastian submitted to a sanity examination requested by her husband at Green Bay and was declared sane. Later the same day, Sebastian claims, she forced him to drink kerosene or gasoline. While drinking it, she grabbed a butcher knife and cut his throat, he said.

The state avers that the wounds were self-inflicted and that the murder was premeditated.

Menasha Man Is Builders' Trustee

F. J. Oberweiser Re-elected For 3-Year Term at Milwaukee Parley

F. J. Oberweiser, Menasha, was re-elected a trustee for a 3-year term at the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Master Builders' association of Wisconsin yesterday at Milwaukee.

Delegates to the convention adopted a resolution opposing creation of a local housing authority as provided under the Wagner-Steagall act. The association "stood ready to endorse" a program which would create limited dividend low cost housing organizations formed by private capital and financed by private or government loans.

Other officers re-elected at the meeting were Edward T. Lauer, Milwaukee, president; Richard Ferge, Milwaukee, secretary; John B. Gysbers, Waupun, treasurer.

District chairmen renamed included William Larsen, Racine, southeastern; J. C. Jansen, Milwaukee, eastern; Charles Kapelle, Mayville, southern; Frank Guenther, Sheboygan, central; Albert G. Klich, La Crosse, western; George A. Lund, Eau Claire, northwestern; and Joseph Servotte, Green Bay, northeastern.

Dog Fanciers See Motion Picture

Allan Kerr, Green Bay, Sketches Life of Captain Will Judy

More than 60 members of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club and guests saw a film on dog field trials last night at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. The pictures were taken recently at East Islip, N. Y., at field trials for the Cocker, Springer, Chesapeake and Labrador breeds.

Allan Kerr, Green Bay, briefly sketched the life of Captain Will Judy, Chicago publisher, who will speak here Feb. 16 before members of the Kennel club.

Projector equipment was furnished by R. L. Swanson, an instructor at Wilson school. Delegates from New London, Green Bay, Neenah and Kaukauna attended the meeting.

LOW FIRE LOSS

Milwaukee—The fire department reported today that Milwaukee's 1937 fire losses averaged 79 cents for each resident, the lowest in 40 years. Fire alarms totaled 3,293 as against 4,984 in 1936.

Scouts, Leaders Will Camp at Gardner Dam

End Testimony in Trial of Doctor

Dr. Atkinson Man on Witness Stand in Manslaughter Case

Jefferson, Wis.—(47)—Testimony was completed today in the trial of Dr. Oscar Lorch, of Ft. Atkinson, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a 22-year-old Hebron farm girl following an illegal operation.

Dr. Lorch was on the witness stand for several hours this morning.

He testified the girl came to him in the summer of 1936, telling him she had been sent by another physician. The doctor Lorch said the girl told him, had given her medicine to produce an abortion.

Lorch said the girl asked for an examination by Dr. Walter Kuhn, of Sheboygan, and that in his presence Dr. Kuhn examined her several days later. Lorch said the only instrument used in the examination was a speculum.

Kuhn, serving a jail sentence following conviction on a charge of performing an illegal operation, received $50 for the examination, Lorch said. Kuhn gave him $20 for the use of his office and the instrument, Lorch added.

Lorch said the girl's brother informed him several days later that she was seriously ill. He advised that the girl's family physician be called, Lorch testified. The girl died at a Watertown hospital Aug. 16, 1936, death was due to blood poisoning.

On cross examination, Lorch, when asked why he had not sent samples of the pills taken by the girl to state health authorities, said he didn't think it was necessary.

After Lorch testified, five character witnesses were called in his behalf.

Proposed Good Will Tour Arouses Enmity in South

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison — Bitter anti-Wisconsin sentiment among the cotton and peanut farmers of the southern states has been aroused by the advance publicity for the Wisconsin Good Will Tour through the cotton belt, the department of agriculture has been informed.

The tour, promoted by the state department of agriculture and private business interests, was called off this week, perhaps permanently, because of financial troubles. Part of its objective was the advertisement of Wisconsin dairy produce in the important southern market.

Southern editors, notified of the tour through their states, recalled the famous Cashman also tax of 1935 and declared that the celebrated southern hospitality would not be available to the representatives of a state which unfairly taxes southern agricultural products, according to clippings of dozens of editorials received by state agricultural department heads.

Added to the resentment aroused by the proposed advertising tour by Wisconsin agriculture and business is opposition by the south to the Boileau amendment to the federal crop control bill, introduced by Representative Gerald J. Boileau of Wausau to provide that no cotton grower who uses surplus land for dairy feed crops will receive federal benefit payments.

Reviewing the well known also tariff, sponsored by Senator John E. Cashman of Denmark to protect the Wisconsin dairy farmers' market against the cheaper substitute preparations, one Texas editor recently declared that "if Texas should decide to place a tax of fifteen cents per pound on all Wisconsin butter and cheese, the state would probably suffer greater loss than Texas does by virtue of the tax on margarine, and of course it is as fair for one as it is to another. Texans owe it to the cotton and peanut farmers of the state to protect in every way possible the prohibitive Wisconsin tax."

Hitler Renews Task, Begun 19 Years Ago, of Trying to Nazify All Army Branches

Berlin—(47)—Adolf Hitler, the ambitious former corporal who 19 years ago started out to nazify the German army, is renewing the task. Some have posed the question whether he could do it this time.

Nineteen years ago Hitler was a mere party leader trying to win adherents within the army. This time he is head of the state, with direct control of all its armed forces, and it would be a stout-hearted general, indeed, who defied him openly.

Nevertheless, diplomatic quarters heard reports yesterday that three generals offered their resignations in protest.

The reports raised the questions whether Hitler was stronger than these generals, whether there were many such discontented higher officers in the army, and what would result.

Opinions differed among veteran observers, but few saw any likelihood that Hitler would back down on his nazification program, begun with last week's army and cabinet shakeups.

Hitler's past record is interesting in this connection. When in November, 1923, he tried to seize power dramatically at Munich, he fondly believed that German soldiers would not fire on his brownshirt patriots.

They did fire. Sixteen nazis died and Hitler went to prison. In 1930, three young army officers spreading the nazi doctrine were tried for high treason. Hitler testified in their defense, but the nazi officers went to prison.

No Leniency Seen

Those who remembered the days when it was treason for an officer to be a nazi did not expect that Hitler would be lenient now with opposing officers.

Rumors of arrest of many officers have not yet been substantiated, but observers pointed out that all necessary precautions against effective opposition naturally were taken before the chancellor removed Field Marshal Werner von Blomberg as war minister, deposed the army chief of staff, retired 13 army and air force generals, and assumed direct command of the armed forces for himself.

The nazification program was said to be now nearly ready for promulgation. It was reported the order would eliminate chaplains from the army, make the nazi salute obligatory, confine recruiting of future young officers to men who attended nazi party schools, and place a political commissioner on each army staff.

Raps 'Absentee' Bank Ownership

Association Head Wants Institutions Responsible to People

Des Moines, Iowa—(47)—Orval W. Adams of Salt Lake City, president of the American Bankers' association, today expressed his opposition to "absentee ownership" of banks.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the 10-state regional conference of the A. B. A. here, Adams said:

"The A. B. A. never has believed in absentee ownership in the banking system. It believes the banks in the various communities should be directly responsible to the people in those communities in the conduct of their affairs."

Bankers from Illinois, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Wyoming and Iowa attended the conference.

A Wisconsin banker disagreed with a Nebraska contemporary today on the advisability of country banks entering the small "personal loan" field. In a speech prepared for delivery at the conference, A. J. Jorgenson, Sidney, Neb., banker, said his institution has had no losses with installment loans in nearly two years.

A. C. Kingston, Oshkosh, Wis., banker, questioned the procedure and said he chose "not to be a party to this experimental credit expansion."

"A large bank in a large industrial center may find it to its advantage to have a personal loan department," he added, however.

Three Directors Picked at Meeting Of Commerce Body

Fond du Lac and Kiel Secretaries Speak at Chilton Session

Chilton—The annual election of directors of the Chilton Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening followed a dinner and program. William Peterson, executive secretary of the Fond du Lac Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker. He told of the policies and program of that body. He stressed particularly the need for cooperation among the business and professional men who stand back of any chamber of commerce. Compulsion is between different towns rather than between different business men in the same town, he said. The business men of the country during the depression have been held up by politicians as enemies of industry and prosperity. Mr. Peterson asserted, adding that the remedies that have been tried by the government are as old as Roman history, and whenever and wherever tried have not brought any measure of success. A return to the American ways of doing business is believed by the business men of the country to be the only means of bringing back healthy business life, the speaker declared.

Edward Tamm, executive secretary of the Kiel Chamber of Commerce, told of the activities of that organization. Among many projects making for the commercial development of Kiel, he cited the collection through donations of $55,000 for the re-establishment of the Kiel Furniture company which is now a healthy business basis and has 130 men on its payroll.

Heads above the crowd

A True Story

THIS DOG RATES the "Mark of Merit" as surely as Old Quaker, guarded by our "51 Watchdogs of Quality." One dawn this dog smelled smoke... went into action... as our inspectors do, to check Old Quaker. Dashing upstairs, he awakened his master... then, racing on, roused the family... refusing to leave until every human was safe. Old Quaker's human watchdogs refuse to let a bottle leave the distillery until it has passed 51 checks for quality. Result... whiskey you'll double-check for richness and smoothness... heads-up whiskey... at no increase in your overhead.

KUNITZ hit a 224 game and P. Ferguson a 638 series for high scores in Tuesday's matches in the Eagles bowling league. Kunitz followed with a 532 series and W. Fries rapped a 200 as O. K. Ashauer spilled a 202 as Ashtauer's Tavern won all three from Old Town and hung up high team marks, 661 for game and 2332 for match. F. Huntz shot a 213 game and 558 series for Old Town. With T. Lausen whacking a 207 game and 541 series, Mellow Brews won two from Miller High Life, led by F. Koerner who chalked up a 539 series. Hy Strutz rolled a 201 game and 586 series and W. ### Beaver Dam Ice Skater Loses by .5 of Second

Oslo, Norway—Laila Schou Nilsen of Norway won the 500 meter event of the women's world speed skating championships yesterday, beating out Madeline (Mad-dy) Horn of Beaver Dam, Wis., by five-tenths of a second. Glou Don-ker of Holland was third. Miss Nilsen was timed in 50.7 seconds against 51.2 for Miss Horn and 53.3 for Miss Donker.

Bees Beat Waupun Volleyball Squad

Y Team Whips Visitors
In Five Straight Games
Last Evening

The Appleton Y. M. C. A. last night gave a practical demonstration of why they won the state Class B championship last year by disposing of the visiting Waupun volleyball team in five straight games, 15-3, 15-1, 15-9, 15-4, and 15-3. The win ran the Y teams' consecutive string of victories in the Class B division of the Fox River Volleyball league to 15 and strengthened its first-place standing. The Appleton team showed the same strong defense and smashing attack that has characterized its play all season. The driving kills of Dr. R. V. Landis, Art Schade, Carl Feurst and the Rev. C. M. Schendel had the visitors bewildered. The setup men, Dr. Guy Carlson, Bob Potter and Milton Schwandt, had little difficulty in playing the hole position and turning back whatever the Waupaca team could offer. The Bees will travel to Oshkosh Monday night to play the Oshkosh Elks.

FRIDAY'S GAMES

Bear Creek at Freedom.
Hortonville at Shiocton.
Wrightstown at Winneconne.

Eastern Division
Brillion at Kimberly.
Denmark at Seymour.
Reedsville at Hilbert.

ALTHOUGH Seymour High school is out of the running for the championship in the Eastern division of the Little Nine conference, the northern squad is priming to hand out a trimming to Denmark when the teams clash Friday evening at Seymour. Denmark has dropped only one game to date, to Kimberly, and is holding down second place in the standings with a postponed game to be played which will put it in a tie with the Papermakers. Seymour has lost three games, two to Kimberly and one to Denmark. The latter defeat was by a close margin and Coach Loftus' squad figures it should win with the home floor advantage. Kimberly is expected to have little trouble with Brillion on the Papermakers' floor and Reedsville will go to Hilbert with the latter having a final chance to drag someone into the cellar with it. In the Western division there isn't much excitement over the week's games. The first place Hortonville squad will go to Shiocton and should win handily. The second place Bear Creek outfit expects to win at Freedom and shouldn't expect any trouble while Winneconne will be at home to Wrightstown and figures to win easily.

Brothers Lose
Two Wausau fighters, Jay and Bob Dudley, brothers, fared badly at the hands of opponents, the former dropping a decision to Charles Martinec, Milwaukee, and Bob losing to Bill Marquardt, Two Rivers, in three rounds. Jay fought in the 125-pound class, Bob in the 165 pound division. Combining solid punches with good footwork, Jim Walsh, Janesville, outpointed Peter Paris, Madison, in their third round bout at 125 pounds. In the 155 pound class, Billy Roth, Milwaukee, scored an upset victory over Henry Strand, Poskin, in a closely fought match. Although apparently outpointed in the early rounds, Steve Chiovaro, Madison, rallied briskly in the final session to overtake his opponent, Bud Herman, Middleton, to qualify for a 175 pound berth in the finals. Other results: (All fights three rounds.) Elmer Dushek, Lodi, defeated Landon Laphan, St. Croix Falls, decision (heavyweights). Ray Kramer, Milwaukee, defeated Gerald Harris, Superior, decision. (155 pounds.) Woodrow Swancutt, Wisconsin Rapids, defeated Joe Cays of Mauston, decision. (145 pounds.) Bob Sachschaile, Portage, defeated Tom Delwiche, Madison, decision. (115 pounds.)

Plan for District Cage Tourney at Kaukauna

Neenah—Final arrangement for the district basketball tournament will be made at a meeting of district high school coaches and officials at Kaukauna, Wis., Feb. 24, at Hotel Kaukauna. According to a notice received today by John H. Holzman, principal at Neenah High school, from P. F. Neverman, secretary of the W. I. A. A. Neenah is being considered for the regional tournament, but the place will not be determined until after the district meet in order to determine the most centrally located city. The first round of play in the district tournament probably will have Neenah versus Menasha, Clintonville versus West DePere, DePere versus Waupaca, Kaukauna versus New London.

Savior Canadeo Is Floored by Studies, Lost to St. Norbert

West DePere—Boxing hopes for the Belting Brigade of St. Norbert college received a stiff jolt to the jaw when Savior Canadeo, 147-pound ace, dropped school this week because of scholastic difficulties. Canadeo's absence will leave a big hole to be filled before the St. Norbert Knights meet the University of Wisconsin squad on Feb. 18. Alan Dufek of DePere who re-entered at the semester may replace him.

The Chicago welterweight in two and one-half years at St. Norbert lost only one bout fighting on school cards, that in a hairline decision to Bill Goldsmith, Canadeo's former stablemate of Chicago's C.Y.O. team. Last year he won the Press-Gazette Golden Gloves finals in Green Bay, losing in the quarter-finals of the Chicago Tournament of Champions to Tommy Pallatin.

Marquette Quint Beats Notre Dame In Final Seconds

Paul Sokody Scores Basket for 45 to 43
Hilltop Win

MILWAUKEE—A field goal by Paul Sokody, Marquette center, 20 seconds before the final gun, gave the Golden Avalanche a 45 to 43 victory over Notre Dame's five in a driving, spirited game before a capacity crowd of 8,500 here last night. Marquette won by outlasting the powerful Irish squad in one of the fastest games seen here in years. It had the crowd in a bedlam, as one team then the other gained the lead after being tied 11 times.

It was Bob Deneen, Marquette sophomore, who provided the spark for victory, as he broke through the tight Irish defense to push home shots. He led his team in scoring with 14 points and was all over the floor to rally the squad whenever it started to falter.

Captain Johnny Moir, Notre Dame's brilliant forward, led his squad with 17 points. Big Paul Nowak, Irish center, also was outstanding, taking rebounds and breaking up many of the set Marquette plays. Notre Dame got off to an early lead and increased the advantage to 12 to 4 before Marquette could get underway. The Hilltoppers then sped up their offense and soon got back into the running, only to bog down shortly before the half, when the Irish gained a 26 to 23 advantage.

Through the final period the action was spirited with George Hesik, Marquette guard, an outstanding performer. Marquette ran up a 33 to 28 advantage early in the period but soon lost it as Moir began to find the range. He sank a short shot to knot the count at 43 all a few moments before Sokody pushed in the winning basket.

Mercury Quintet Takes 1st Round Basketball Title

Upsets Badgers by 35 to 19 Score in Older
Boy Playoff

MERCURY basketball team won the first half championship in the National division of the older Boys' league last evening at the Y. M. C. A., when it upset the Badgers by a 35 to 19 count.

Entering the game as the underdog, the Mercury five jumped away to an early lead which it held throughout the contest. The count at the quarter was 7 to 0 and at the half 16 to 4 with a strong zone defense holding the Badgers to two baskets.

The victors used a "man-in-the-hole" to excellent advantage with occasional criss-crosses and double passes. In the third quarter they added 11 points while the Badgers got only 2 and the score stood at 27 to 8. The fourth period saw them add 8 to the big lead.

The starting lineup for the Mercury team, Kessler and Lathrop at the forwards, Heinritz at center and Powers and Blacher at guards, offered a combination which showed all kinds of class. For the losers, DeDecker, Cape and Springer played good ball.

Another game on last evening's cage program saw the Trojans defeat the Black Hawks, 25 to 7. Both squads are from Roosevelt Junior High school. The Trojans led 4 to 1 at the quarter, 9 to 5 at the half, and 17 to 5 at the third quarter. The Trojan guarding combination of Bartman and Johnson was too strong for the Black Hawks and they got only three goals.

Princeton Mentor As- sured Athletic Di- rectorship

PRINCETON, N. J.—(P)—Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, ending his six-year job of rebuilding Princeton's football fortunes, was back in the Big Ten today as Michigan's head grid coach, with assurance that the athletic directorship would follow in the not-too-distant future.

Released from the Princeton contract which still had two years to run, the tall dark-haired Crisler takes over at Michigan not only as head pilot, but also "as assistant director of athletics, at first."

May Succeed Yost
"Later, I will become director of athletics," he said last night in announcing his Princeton resignation and Michigan acceptance. Although Michigan officials denied they had discussed the directorship with him, it was generally believed that some assurance of the position was made in order to get Crisler to transfer from Tigertown.

For weeks, in fact almost since the day last December when Harry Kipke was advised his contract as Wolverine coach would not be renewed, rumor had Crisler slated for the berth. But the reports were that he refused to accept until he could be sure the athletic directorship would also be his when Fielding H. Yost stepped down from that office.

Loss to Tigers

Today it was generally regarded that he would succeed Yost within a year or two.

Crisler explained that Michigan officials had "presented a new position last Monday, which included added duties on athletic administration." This "position" was regarded as the factor that ended the hitch in negotiations. To Princeton's campus, Michigan's gain is the Tigers' severe loss. Undergraduates and alumni alike were disappointed over the jolt handed Princeton by loss of the 38-year-old mentor who came from Minnesota in 1932 and skyrocketed the Tigers out of their worst football depression back to the heights, with undefeated united teams in 1933 and 1935 and a record of 35 won, 9 lost and 5 tied in his six-year regime.

Graduate of Chicago
Professor Burnham N. Dell, chairman of the Princeton council, in announcing acceptance of the resignation, said "No action was taken in regard to a successor to Mr. Crisler."

The Princeton berth was Crisler's first step out of the Big Ten. He was a three-sport man as an undergraduate at Chicago, graduating in 1922. From 1925 to 1930 he was assistant coach to Amos Alonzo Stagg at his alma mater, and then went to Minnesota as coach and athletic director in 1930 and '31.

Princeton's grid fortunes hit the down-grade in the late 20's and early '30s, and the Tiger athletic fathers succumbed to a report to build them at a salary variously reported to be between $8,000 and $12,000.

Kimberly A. A. Trips Fox River

Scores 31 to 29 Victory in Overtime Thriller

KIMBERLY—Fox River Paper company cagers, Appleton, lost their second game to the Kimberly A. A. at the clubhouse Wednesday evening by a score of 31 to 29 in an overtime period. to 6 to 5. The furious pace set by both teams had the players winded at the half with the visitors leading 20 to 14.

Baskets by LeMay, Norb and Joe Gossens, with a free throw by E. Vander Velden put the Kimberly team ahead at the start of the third period, 21 to 20. Catlin fouled Bowman and Swen put one right through the hoop for a 22 to 20 lead for the Papermakers. A basket by Catlin, another by Wosner and a gift shot by Kelly brought the lead back to the Fox River, 25 to 22. N. Gossens then put one through the hoop as the third period ended with Kimberly trailing by a point, 25 to 24.

Kelly fouled Chubby Vander Velden in the fourth quarter and the score again was even. Bowman fouled Catlin and he made one of two tries. N. Gossens put one through the hoop and then Grishaber gave his team the lead again by a score of 29 to 27. With five seconds remaining, Joe Gossens sent a nice followup shot through the basket as the final whistle blew and the score stood 29-27.

New Orleans—(P)—A suit in which Coach D. Shaughnessy, head football coach at the University of Chicago and former coach at Loyola University here, sought a $68,067 judgment from Blaise S. D'Antoni, New Orleans investment broker, was dismissed yesterday.

Shaughnessy contended the judgment was due him on a 10-year contract entered into August 1, 1927, which provided that D'Antoni would designate what New Orleans institution Shaughnessy would serve and would pay his salary over the 10-year period.

Budge, Worn to a Frazzle, Will Sail for Home in Day or Two

NEW YORK—(P)—Don Budge, whose winter campaign in Australia has proved something less than the triumph procession it was intended to be, finally is ready to leave for home, and some too soon for the peace of mind of this country's tennis fathers.

The champion and his touring companion, Gene Mako, are expected to sail for California within a day or two. They will be welcomed heartily upon their arrival and told that if they don't play another lick of tennis until the middle of July it will be esteemed a high favor by the Davis cup committee.

For the committee has awakened belatedly to the painful thought that it might have blundered in shipping Budge out of earshot of the wicked professional pretenders. They feel now that it might have been better to let their white hope stay at home and taken a chance on his ability to withstand financial blandishments.

As it is, Budge comes back worn to a frazzle after over a year of constant competitive tennis. His two defeats by Baron Gottfried Von Cramm and a loss to Jack Bromwich make it all too obvious that he has lost the playing pitch that made him unbeatable in England and America last summer. Brom-

LeRoy Edwards, above, will be cavorting at center when the Oshkosh All-Stars tangle with the Kautsky squad of Indianapolis at Butte des Morts school gymnasium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Menasha.

Edwards was rated All-American while at the University of Kentucky and joined the All-Stars in February, 1936. He stands 6 feet 4 inches and is considered exceptionally fast.

Terrific Six Cagers Win Games in McKinley League

Rilla Swamp and Harriet Moritz led the Terrific Six cage team to victories over the McKinley Rams and the Basketeers this week in the girls' cage tournament at McKinley Junior High school.

The team defeated the McKinley Rams, 21 and 3, and the Basketeers, 16 and 4. Three teams, captained by Rilla Swamp, Rita Fahrnkruug and Clara Mae Rhoder, are entered in the tournament. Each team will play eight games.

Manawa—The battle for second place offers the greatest interest in the waning weeks of the Central Wisconsin conference basketball race now that Marion again has stepped out ahead of all competitors and for the third successive year bids fair to end the season undefeated in league play. Waupaca, Weyauwega and Manawa all have a chance to finish in the runner-up position and the Waupaca-Weyauwega argument at the latter place on Friday evening will be the feature game of the night. Iola plays at Marion and Amherst travels to Manawa.

Marion won two more games in handy fashion from a pair of tough opponents this past week. The Purgoilers defeated Waupaca 32 to 14 last Friday and trounced Weyauwega 35 to 18, Monday night. Manawa lost a tight battle to Weyauwega last Friday 23 to 18 while Iola was handing Amherst a 36 to 21 defeat.

The Menasha team is meeting St. Peter.

Myrl Hoag Wants Larger Salary

Yankee Left Fielder Believes He Has Something Extra Coming

San Francisco—(P)—New York Yankee officials, engaged in financial wrestling bouts with some of their super-stars, will be pleased to learn they have another dissatisfied player who should be described as "a club owner's 1-1-out."

Myrl Hoag, regular left fielder, had the best season of his career last year and was "rewarded" with a contract calling for the same pay as in 1937.

Joe Di Maggio asked for an increase of 166 per cent and threatens to stay home and wash dishes unless favored with a 100 per cent boost. Lou Gehrig is putting for a mere 15 per cent "up."

Hoag, who outplayed Di Maggio in practically all departments in the world series and was the third leading hitter on both sides is going to carry his troubles to spring training headquarters in Florida. Then he'll try to convince his bosses that his work last season deserves better recognition.

"I'm certain everything will come out all right," said Hoag, who is wintering in Sacramento. "I'm not complaining but naturally I don't expect to play for the same money I got last year."

Di Maggio would like to know what a fellow has to do to get a raise. He hit .301 last season and over 300 in the world series. Only Tony Lazzeri of his own team and Joe Moore of the Giants topped him in the series.

Hoag's salary is a matter of conjecture but guesses believed to be fairly accurate place it around $10,000. Di Maggio got $15,000.

Pro Golfers in 2nd Qualifying Round

San Francisco—(P)—With plenty of room for improvement on all sides, including the weather, golf's touring professionals and a sprinkling of amateurs tee off today in the second qualifying round of the $5,000 San Francisco match play open.

Thirty-two qualifying positions are open for match play, starting tomorrow. A red hot scramble was forecast as the result of yesterday's first round scores that soared to record high figures.

Pacing the field of some 135 players who remained after yesterday's debacle was Charles Congdon of Tacoma, Wash. He posted a first round 75, four strokes over par 36-35-71 of the San Francisco club course.

CAGERS SEEK GAMES

Forest Junction—A local basketball team under the name of Forest Junction All-Stars, managed by Donald Stancille, has opened its season and played three games, defeating Wrightstown and Potter teams and losing to Hilbert. The manager is seeking to book additional games and invites inquiries from other teams.

Pitt Continues To Tighten Its Sport Policies

Announces Two Changes In Athletic Eligibility, Control

PITTSBURGH—(P)—Two changes in athletic policy, one designed to place the University of Pittsburgh's teams under the same "restrictions as those of the Ivy league" and "Big Ten," go into effect next March 1.

One change shifts control from the athletic council of the university to a newly organized, all-faculty committee.

The other revises the code of eligibility standards at the university so that they will compare "with any in effect at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell or the Big Ten conference," said Chancellor John C. Bowman of Pitt, who made the announcement.

Coaches Endorse Plan
These changes top a program of athletic policy revision that began last fall with announcement of the "Hagen plan," which eliminated athletic scholarships and subsidies.

The new policies, Dr. Bowman said, were adopted at the suggestion of the old board of athletic control and were endorsed by Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland, head football coach, Dr. Harold C. Carlson, basketball coach, and track coach Carl Olson. Some of the new rules are already in effect, Dr. Bowman added.

Athletic Director James Hagan explained that the new code embodied the best features of eligibility rules of the so-called "Ivy league" schools and those of the "Big Ten." Many of their rules were adopted verbatim, "while some were liberalized in minor details to conform to conditions at Pitt."

Faculty Supervision
Commenting on the new program, Dr. Bowman said:
"Athletics are an undergraduate affair. Matters of the scholarship of players, rules of eligibility and athletic relationship with other institutions, because they affect undergraduate education, are naturally faculty functions."

"The council believes that these programs should be administered by a faculty committee, each member of which has had long experience at the university."

The most important change under the eligibility code states:
"No student shall be eligible to membership on any university team until he has completed satisfactorily a full year's work at the university and has satisfied the requirements for advancement with his class as determined by the faculty."

Schaefer; Merkel and Melcher versus Albrecht and Buchert; Ertl and Runge versus Fetter and Stadler; and Meidam and Winter, bye.

Dewey and Roehl Win Junior Ping-Pong Title

John Dewey and Richard Roehl defeated the team of Last and Spreeman yesterday to win the junior ping-pong doubles tournament at Appleton High school. Shebilske and DeDecker won over Hein and Hebel to go into the finals in the senior tournament. Ulman will tangle with Pruett and Lausmann today. The winners will meet Shebilske and DeDecker for the class championship.

Milwaukee—At least one geographical faux pas a season is committed by sophomore members of the Marquette university basketball team. One of the sophomores, upon arriving with the squad at Rochester, N. Y., recently, inquired about the Mayo clinic. Last year, another was looking for the naval academy in Indianapolis.

Petrillo Runs Chicago Union but He's Honest

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago—"Thief," "grafter," "burglar" and "hoodlum" are among the family pet names by which the community of Chicago described most of her public servants and certain other leaders. There is a hearty tolerance, almost a comradeship, however, and a man who is called a thief, for example, is not necessarily hated. On the contrary, he may be very popular and the people's choice at election time. Chicago seems to be a frame of mind as well as a great city, and it takes a little time to develop an understanding of local thought on the subject of politics and government.

Granted that one faction is bad, it would seem to a stranger that the opposing faction, or at least certain of its leaders, must be reasonably honest, if only by comparison, but that is not conceded. If the leader is conceded to be honest in some things, then it develops that his following includes a pack of the most remorseless grafters and racketeers that ever sold a public street to a private purchaser and that the leader himself is prepared to go along with them, giving them a free hand to gamble and rob when the returns are in.

All this makes one a little self-conscious or sheepish in reporting that the one conspicuous exception, noted in more than a week of guarded inquiry in Chicago is a tough little labor dictator named "Jimmy" Petrillo, the president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians. But inquiry can among those who have had to do business with Mr. Petrillo's hardshell monopoly of the music business has revealed only respect for Petrillo's single-minded devotion to the interests of his fiddlers, trumpeters and all, and for his word given in a bargain.

In a city where labor has been the victim of many rackets which have preyed on members and employers alike such praise is a strange note, but it sounds loud and clear, the verdict being that "Jimmy" will play ball with an employer to let him make a dollar and thus keep him in business and musicians in jobs, but that he never throws down his men.

Just admitted 2,500 From 2 Small Unions
Mr. Petrillo's union has bought a downtown building for its headquarters, and he sits in a rather flashy office paneled in wood and some plausible fake. He is said to keep a run in a desk drawer and to reveal it casually to visitors who need to be impressed, but if so he wasn't in character one afternoon last week. He sat back of his desk admitting that the same absolute powers that he holds, if passed on to some successor of less noble graves are kept out of the job-trust unions of those crafts. Obtained $80,000 For

Concerts In Grant Park

Mr. Petrillo is a politician, too, and, as a member of the park district board, obtained $63,000 out of public taxes last year and $80,000 this year for concerts in Grant park, the money being paid to the musicians as wages. It would be no less reasonable, perhaps, to appropriate like amounts to the janitors and teamsters, but "Jimmy" argues that the city is paying enormous amounts to buy hay for elephants and bananas for monkeys in the parks and that it is much more humane to buy spaghetti and hamburger for his musicians. And, anyway, it's done and the public enjoys the concerts, and is there anybody around who thinks he can do anything about it?

There is not. I have heard nobody call Mr. Petrillo a thief, grafter, burglar or hoodlum. A dictator, yes, who levies fines and will not let a musician fiddle a squeak or horn a bleat or hire in his territory unless the job is cleared through his office. How can that be managed? That is a hot one! Now it is you who are being naive.

Marion Rotary Club Has Open Forum Discussions

Marion — The weekly meeting of the Rotary club was held Tuesday at the village hall. Guests of the club were Robert Krueger of Pella and Milton Pevonka of Leopold.

The meeting was devoted to open forum discussions on various topics. The first topic was the possible purchase by the village of the local light plant and the possible referendum in the near future.

Another topic discussed was the reorganization of the Marion-Caroline-Gresham Telephone company. Many business men felt that there is a general dissatisfaction on the part of many farmers north of Marion who must call through the Gresham line and pay 15 cents to call stockmen when they have something to sell.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—This town's master of the process of cumulative indignation—better known as the "slow burn"—is Edgar Kennedy.

Kennedy's step-by-step enactment of the emotion of anger in various films probably has covered as much celluloid as several full-length features. In the short subjects, "The Average Man," he has consumed as much as half a reel in the course of burning himself slowly to a violent crisis.

And audiences seem to like it, which is why Average Man Kennedy has been usurping more and more space in the feature world. Seeking him out for a closer scientific study of a slow burner, I found a pleasant, huge fellow who not once showed symptoms of laughing into his specialty. And I found history.

He Learns To Kick
"I guess the first time I ever did a slow burn in a picture," he confessed, "was right at the beginning. And I was really burned. A new fellow named Chaplin had come out to join the Mack Sennett gang. He had his own ideas about comedy. There was a scene in which I was supposed to give him a kick. I kicked, the gentle, rough-seeming way we have of doing it. But he didn't respond. I kicked again. Still no answer. I was burned. The third time I really kicked—guess I kicked him right out of the scene."

He Begins With A Smile
Since 1912, when he gave up odd jobs, including boxing, to be in the movies, Kennedy has been "burning." Ask him if he can name off-hand any movies in which he tary and treasurer also was discussed.

The program for next week is in charge of F. H. Utormark and the following week N. F. Kohl.

has not done a delayed toast, and he'll give you right back: "Robin Hood of El Dorado." In that one he played the sheriff—straight. "And what a job! Me, a comic, and not allowed to play for laughs. . . ."

Scientifically, the deferred explosion of temperment is much more than appears on the surface. Most people, for instance, consider the "slow burn" has just begun when Kennedy starts wrapping his fingers around his face and tearing at his baldness. In truth, this stage is near the climax. The actual beginning, nearly always, is a smile. The guy is trying to be pleasant, but the other mugs won't let him. He sometimes attempts another smile, although feebly, before his fingers begin drumming the table. By the time he starts tearing at himself, the burn is well advanced. Peaceable even in exasperation, this average man turns his wrath upon himself.

C. Y. O. Group in First Rehearsal Of 3-Act Comedy

Holy Cross Organization To Stage 'Dotty and Daffy' Feb. 27

Kaukauna—With the production date set for Sunday, February 27, the newly selected cast of "Dotty and Daffy," Holy Cross C. Y. O. group's 3-act comedy, swung into action at a 3-hour rehearsal last night at the parish hall.

Heading the cast in the title roles of the show are Miss Rita Esler, 115 Tobacco street, as Dotty, and Miss La Verne Hennes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Vandenberg, 309 Kaukauna street, as Daffy. The girls are really Dorothy and Daphne Travers, daughters of a socially minded but impoverished widow in the play. The date of the play was set at February 27 before the beginning of the Lenten season, after considerable debate was held by C. Y. O. members as to whether or not the show should be presented before or after Lent. Final arrangements were agreed upon at the meeting of the youth organization at Holy Cross hall last night.

Miss Caroline Kalista will play the part of Mrs. Phyllis Travers, mother of the girls. As the heart interest in the young ladies, the show will have Clarence Nielsen and Orrin Romesko.

In Character Roles
Three character parts, the English butler, the Swedish Maid, and the Irish cook, will be played by Charles Weber, Miss Helen Hoffensperger and Miss Florian McCabe. Herman Maes, veteran of various Kaukauna stage presentations will take the part of a society widower, while Francis Wagner will assume a Harvard student to play the part of his son.

Miss Virginia Goetzman will step into the character part of Miss Hester Harley, straight-laced spinster aunt to Dorothy and Daphne, and a hater of men.

The cast includes only one member of the most recent Holy Cross play, "For Pete's Sake," presented two years ago. He is Herman Maes. Most of the remaining players are recent graduates from high school, where they got their stage training. All have had previous experience except Miss Hoffensperger, who will make her first stage appearance in a character part. The play again is being directed by James W. Lang, who directed the one of 1936.

A rehearsal will be held at 7 to 8 o'clock at Holy Cross school.

Council to Face Pension Problem

Referendum May Be Sought on Police Retirement Ordinance

Kaukauna—The question of the police pension ordinance, the bone of contention at summer and fall meetings, will again be placed before the common council next Tuesday when a new measure, calling for a vote of Kaukauna residents on the question will be presented, it was learned yesterday.

The police pension ordinance, providing a scale of payments to retired police officers in exchange for one per cent of the police payroll, was repealed by a motion last fall. When the repeal by motion was protested as illegal, an ordinance repealing the measure was formally presented, and the council then refused to approve officially their action of the previous meeting and voted down the repeal ordinance.

Expenditures of the police pension fund in 1937 were $900, and income amounted to $469.67, according to the annual report of City Clerk Lester J. Brenzel. Revenues were interest $84, one per cent payroll deductions $92.67, and dog license fees, $233.

Kaws Clash With B Team in Drill For Menasha Tilt

Will Seek Third Conference Win in Contest Friday

Kaukauna—A stiff scrimmage against the B squad yesterday afternoon climaxed the week's preparations of Coach Paul E. Little's cagers for the game at Menasha Friday. The Kaws will be gunning for their third conference win, having toppled Clintonville and West De Pere.

The Kaws will enter the Bluejay contest an underdog against the strong Menasha quintet, but in view of their continued improvement this year a win will not be a total surprise. The Menashas hold a victory over the Kaws here in the conference opener.

Little again will rely on the five regulars who have started every game this year to come through against Menasha. Cliff Vanevenhoven and Bill Peterson will be at the forward posts. Bill Alger will be at center and Roland Lambie and Carl Giordana at guards. A well balanced attack is presented by this lineup, with Vanevenhoven, Peterson, Alger and Lambie all practically tied for the lead in individual scoring.

The squad will go through a light workout today and leave at 6 o'clock tomorrow for Menasha. Those making the trip will be Vanevenhoven, Elsie, Lambie, Peterson, Meitner, Alger, Giordana, Bloch, Grogan, Swedberg and McCarty.

Compile List of Flowers To Aid in Planning Garden

Garden planning is best done in the winter when the gardener has most time for it. Here is a list of flowers, classified according to type, color and habits, which may be a valuable aid in planning a garden on paper.

For edges and borders—Sweet alyssum, dwarf nasturtiums, lobelia, dwarf marigold (tagetes signata pumula), ageratum, Virginia stocks and forget-me-nots.

Long stems for cutting—Asters, calliopsis, mourning bride or scabiosa and cosmos.

Short stems for cutting—Madrigals, snapdragons, calendulas, sweet peas, annual chrysanthemums, bachelor buttons, sweet sul-tans, ten weeks' stocks and gypsophila.

For color masses—petunia, zinnia, marigolds, calendulas, phlox Drum-

Hannemannia (Sua escholtzia)

ums, Clarkia, godetia, poppy, portulaca and zinnias.

For fragrance—Mignonette, heliotrope, nasturtiums, alyssum, ten weeks' stocks and sweet peas.

For shady places—Pansies, torenalis or wishbone plant, godetia, forget-me-not, nemophila, musk plant and other varieties of the handsome monkey flower (mimulus).

For hot situations—Sunflowers, heliotrope, portulaca, ice plant, petunias, balsam and annual gaillardia.

To grow after frost—Sweet alyssum, bachelor's buttons, petunias, marigolds, calendulas, candytuft, stocks, and phlox Drummondii.

Vines—Morning glories, moonflowers, Japanese hop, climbing nasturtium, cardinal climbers, cobaea, cypress vine, balloon vine, scarlet runner and hyacinth beans.

Color harmonies—For yellow and deep blues: white cosmos, annual sunflower, centaureas, blue larkspurs, Swan river daisies, lobelia tenuior and the dwarf forms, burnt orange shades in the zinnias and the California poppies.

Lavender, violet and orange—Ageratum, African marigolds, asters, lilac, larkspurs, heliotrope and dwarf madrigolds.

Pink and blue—Lustrous carmine larkspur and blue shades, the lighter blue lobelias, Swan river daisy, phlox Drummondii and zinnias.

For a fragrant all-season border, with material for cutting, you should include most of the following: Ten weeks' stocks, petunias, French and African marigolds, calendulas, annual larkspurs, cosmos, zinnias, sweet peas, postulaca, summercypress or kochia, flowering tobacco, calliopsis, phlox Drummondii, ageratum, sweet alyssum, poppies, asters, balsams, bachelor's buttons, sweet sultan, coxcomb and annual pinks.

Valentine Dance to be Given at Clintonville

Clintonville—Final arrangements for their annual Valentine dance to be held at the Clintonville armory on Friday evening, Feb. 11, were made by members of the Junior Woman's club Monday evening when they met at the Finney library. Decorations in keeping with St. Valentine's day will be used at the armory and the dance program will be played by Howard Kraemer and his orchestra of Green Bay. An advance sale of tickets is being made by the club.

It was decided to have a costume party at the next meeting, Feb. 21, when members are asked to represent some popular person of the present time or some well known character of a book.

During the business session, it was voted to again sponsor the supervised playground project at Central park, which proved to be most successful last summer. Supervised games and contests were held each week day, with special parades and races once a week.

Entertainment at the meeting was provided by a program, which opened with a vocal duet by Lucille Winkel and Dorothy Fumelle, with piano accompaniment by Gloria Black. A current topic was given by Mrs. Joseph Kuester and a talk on the subject of law was presented by Miss June Spearbraker. Miss Spearbraker was admitted to the bar about two years ago following her graduation from the law school at the University of Wisconsin and is now practicing her profession in this city.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by a committee consisting of Mesdames James Kuester, Keith Bergs, William Kuester, Joseph Kuester and Miss Alice Krueger. Mrs. Edward Dumke fractured

U. S. Rail Extent Impresses Head of Hungarian System

New York—Dr. Otto Senn, president of the Hungarian Government Railways, has arrived on a visit to the United States to study American railway technique first hand.

Guided by railway officials, the European executive has been specially impressed, he said, by the extent and organization of American underground terminals, the frequency and precision of train service, the number of tracks, air railroad terminals and the surprising comfort of railway coaches.

her arm just above the wrist Monday morning when she slipped and fell on the ice while hanging up clothes at her home on West Fourth street. The fracture was reduced at the office of a local physician, after which Mrs. Dumke returned to her home.

It is impossible to make comparison between American and European railways, Senn said, since the wealth of the systems and the volume of travel are relatively much greater in the United States. In technique, Senn pointed out several original features. The conductors on international trains in Hungary speak several languages. The names of important Hungarian railroad stations are inscribed in neon lights. Tourists, on crossing the borders, are met by official "greeters" much as in western American cities. All visas on American passports have been eliminated to facilitate travel, and every effort is made to please the foreign visitor and smooth the journey, according to Dr. Senn.

Hygienist Urges Parents to Face Problems of Sex

Suggests Study Groups for Mothers of Adolescent Children

Neenah—Declaring that a decent attitude toward sex, assumption of responsibility by parents, building of a will power that is animate and encouraging normal boy and girl relationships would bring about a wiser interpretation and safer use of the God given privilege to reproduce the race, Miss Almee Zillmer, social hygienist of the state board of health who in private life is Mrs. Wilde, told members of three Neenah Parent-Teacher associations last night at the Neenah High school that she believed Wisconsin had reduced social disease to a minimum by talking straight to the parents and not by "harping on morals."

"When a well-known doctor stated in a recent book that 1 out of every 10 persons had social diseases, we in Wisconsin were shocked," said Miss Zillmer, "because Wisconsin's disease ratio is considerably lower than that. Out of 3,380 University of Wisconsin students who submitted to Wasserman tests recently, not one was a positive case."

Charging that the belief that the less said about social hygiene, the better, is the mark of a coward, Miss Zillmer said, "call it social hygiene or sex hygiene, a rose by any other name is still a rose, and a sense of modesty is alright up to a certain point but only up to that point."

A Challenge to Action
She pointed out that the state taxpayers pay thousands of dollars each year to support persons suffering from social diseases and she added "I cannot understand, therefore, why taxpayers throw around the subject of social hygiene like a hot potato, all waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do. It is our responsibility and as such challenges us to action by devising a safer work in which our children may grow up through social hygiene information, good environment, building of will power and fostering normal boy and girl relationships."

In a recent survey made by Miss Zillmer among twenty leading authorities in education and medicine, it was found that all of the prominent men contacted stated emphatically that they wouldn't ever suggest a sex hygiene course in schools. A wise teacher with personality can correlate courses such as physical education and biology etc. with social hygiene without labeling it.

"However," said Miss Zillmer, "if the school is not the place for such instruction, it must come from within the home and that naturally raises the question as to whether parents are adequate to meet the situation. Parents are timid about talking to their children or they fear they will fumble the job but it is their responsibility and they must inform themselves in order to be better parents."

Suggests Study Groups
Miss Zillmer suggested social hygiene study groups for young mothers and mothers of adolescent children in order that they may be given their children the right information in the right way at the right time. She urged simple answers for simple questions, warning parents not to "mount the discussions like a diamond that sparkles away from life."

In discussing when a child should be given social hygiene information, Miss Zillmer quoted a famous doctor who said "I would rather talk to my children a year too early than an hour too late."

"If you as parents are inadequate in answering your children's questions," said Miss Zillmer, "don't be surprised if they seek answers elsewhere."

Suggested books for reading were named by Miss Zillmer and pamphlets were distributed among those parents who wished them.

Miss Evelyn Scholl, school nurse, introduced Miss Zillmer and gave the schedule of hours which parents might see Miss Zillmer for conferences Thursday.

HERE'S MODEL OF SAFETY DEVICE
Neenah—Holding a model of his ingenious but simple device calculated to prevent automobiles and trucks from skidding on icy pavements is Joe Mucha, 240 Gruenewald avenue, Neenah, shown above. The Neenah inventor decided to invent his non-skid apparatus while confined to his home with spinal injuries. The invention has been patented, and a working model will be finished soon. If a test proves successful, Mucha plans to manufacture the safety device in Neenah. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Joe Mucha Invents Device To Prevent Auto Skidding

Neenah—An ingenious but simple device, calculated to prevent automobiles and trucks from skidding on icy pavements, has been invented and patented by Joe Mucha, 240 Gruenewald avenue, Neenah.

Joe decided to invent his anti-skid device three years ago this winter. Crippled from an injury received while working in the Lakeview paper mill, Joe would sit by the window of his home and watch automobiles and trucks skid into snow banks and ditches and crash into mailboxes erected on poles along the highway.

Always having prided himself on his inventive mind Joe argued that something could be done to correct the dangerous problem. He didn't solve the problem in a few days; in fact, it took him three years of intensive study and research to finally perfect the apparatus to his satisfaction. His safety device is fully protected, and so far he has received 14 offers from various companies in the United States trying to buy, manufacture or sell his invention for him.

"Eet ess so simply dat I can not know how somebody deodn't think of it before now," Joe said in his broken English while explaining the safety device.

Joe hit upon the idea for his device while watching children coasting on their sleighs in the street in front of his home, using their feet to steer the sleighs. As soon as he was able to be about, Joe started to work on his invention with this idea in mind.

Taking a disc similar in shape to those used by discus throwers in track meets or those used on farm implements the inventor placed the outside edge on ice and, adding a little pressure, found that the disc couldn't be moved sideways. So, he reasoned, a disc attached to the rear of an automobile as a fifth wheel with leverage so that it could be dropped onto the icy pavement when the car started to skid, would keep the car going in a straight path.

Joe had noticed while watching cars that when a vehicle started to skid the driver had no control of the rear of the machine, the lightest part of an automobile, and he reasoned that the device would have to be attached to the rear, slightly behind the rear wheels.

That was just the beginning of Joe's invention, but he did get it patented. Following considerable experimenting, Joe realized that this disc would soon wear out, grind-levy on bare concrete and bumping over railroad tracks and other obstructions. Then Joe thought of a way to have the discs self-sharpening. Two discs were attached, each shaped concavely with the concave sides outward. The inventor claimed that it will be just as effective.

With this settled, Joe faced a new problem: How to prevent cars from skidding frontwards and backwards.

And it wasn't long before Joe surmounted that difficulty. With the first system, leverage devices were used to drop the disc onto the icy pavements, with bars attached to the rear axle. A new device was invented to hold the discs and prongs to the rear axle, a frame was built. In the frame work two vertical prongs of steel the points of which, when dropped into the icy road would prevent the car from going ahead or backwards.

Joe had drafted a plan to operate his non-skid invention hydraulically. When a lever similar to a hand brake is pulled halfway, the discs are dropped into the ice, preventing the car from skidding to the right or left, and when the lever is pulled farther back the prongs are dropped into the ice stopping the head-on or backward motion of the machine.

Several models have been made and attached to small cars, but Joe is now in the process of putting out the actual product so that a real test may be made.

If the test is successful, and Joe is confident that it will be, the inventor plans to build a factory in Neenah to manufacture his invention. He claims that the device can be applied despite the speed of a machine without the automobile turning over.

Joe is 43 years old. He was born in Amstetten, Austria and came to the United States Jan. 1, 1924. He worked in Tomahawk for a year and a half in a paper mill and then went to Chicago for six weeks where he worked in a warehouse before coming to Neenah. He worked at the Lakeview mill here for 31 years before he was injured.

Zephyrs Will be At Full Strength For St. Peter Tilt

St. Mary Squad Favored to Preserve Unbroken Record in League

Menasha—St. Mary High school cagers will travel to Oshkosh Friday evening for their sixth Fox Valley Catholic conference basketball game, opposing the St. Peter teams on its own floor. A game between reserves of the two schools will start at 7:15 and will be followed by the varsity game.

With Rube Prunuski recovered from a slight illness which handicapped him in the Kaukauna game, the Zephyrs again will be at full strength. Even though the Keymen have the advantage of their own floor, the Zephyrs should not be too hard pressed for their sixth victory. The Keymen have yet to win a conference game and have been treated rather roughly outside the conference too.

Likely starters for St. Mary will be Griesbach and Laux at the forward posts, Ponnack and Resch at the guard positions. The coach anticipates will be in doubt until the last minute. Whether Hoks or Prunuski will get the starting call probably depends on the way they warm up before the game. Both will see action.

For the St. Peter team the likely starters will be Schneider and Busha at forwards, Sitzberger at center, Retelle and R. Meier at guards. Other Keymen who probably will get into the game include Schraa, Meixl and W. Meier.

St. Mary reserves will be attempting to score their ninth successive victory in the preliminary. They have been undefeated since they lost the first game of the season at Manitowish reserves. For the reserves, the likely starters will be Schipferling and Schuler at forwards, Koerner at center, Coenen and Coopman at guards.

Business Men, Women Can't Afford to Ignore Government, Hughes Tells Club

Neenah—Business men and women no longer can afford to ignore their government and should allot some of their time to the rules governing their lives. Circuit Judge Henry P. Hughes, Oshkosh, advised the Twin City Business and Professional Women's club at a meeting Wednesday night at the Valley Inn.

Declaring that he didn't propose that "we should become a letter writing nation," the recently appointed circuit judge recommended that the people acquaint those men representing them in the legislature with the knowledge that the people back home are intelligently watching their conduct. This would make for a material difference in the conduct which would be reflected in the votes in the legislature, he suggested.

Judge Hughes talked on "The Legislature and Means of Improving It." In his talk he blamed the people for the deficiencies in the legislature and opposed career training.

"Without being critical," the judge said, "I admit there is room for improvement in our legislatures as well as in any other branch of government." He told the business and professional women of Neenah and Menasha that he gained his knowledge of legislatures about five years ago while he was lobbying for a bill. His duty was to get the bill through the legislature, while Julius Frank, Appleton, deceased, was getting it through the senate.

15 Per Cent Knew
"About 15 out of every 100 representatives actually knew what they were doing, and another 15 per cent followed somewhat intelligently, while the others merely followed," he concluded from his experience.

"But the finger denoting blame is pointed back at us, the judge reasoned, and he advised that in order to have a successful democracy, which this nation must have in order to succeed, it is the duty of the people to sponsor as well as guard this democracy given them.

Because a democracy is representative ruling and not professional ruling, career training for the legislature would not be practical, according to Judge Hughes. He reasoned that if young men and women are trained, they will not be a representative of any particular community because they were trained away from it. They will be

Dramatize Episode of VNA Community Activity

Neenah — Twin City Visiting Nurse association board members were presented with a "moving picture" of what a visiting nurse means to a community Wednesday morning at the monthly meeting in Twin City Y.W.C.A. when Miss Lydia Bourssea, supervisor of visiting nurses, in the role of a mother and Miss Dorothy Dunham, in the role of a nurse, demonstrated a home visit to show what the visiting nurse does and how comprehensive her service is. Board members expressed the belief that such a demonstration served to "crystallize the great good the nurses do in teaching and helping people to know the facts of health and right living."

Miss Dunham entered the room as she would a home, took off her coat and hat, put on her nurses' apron and proceeded as the nurses do in every home to which they are called. Miss Bourssea had her temperature and pulse taken and her general health questioned. She was told she must see a doctor and the advisability of hospitalization was discussed. She was shown what preparations to make should she stay home. Her diet and that of her family were discussed and suggestions made.

The "mother" was told that if her children were in school and she could not afford dental care, she could avail herself of the Visiting Nurse association dental clinic held every week in both Neenah and Menasha and if she had pre-school children and could not afford periodic examinations by the family doctor, their general health could be checked at the association's health center meeting every third Tuesday, alternately in Neenah and Menasha. The service of different health insurance companies and was explained.

Twenty-two children were tested in the Neenah dental clinic in January and 35 were examined in Menasha. Thirty-eight children were examined at the health center in Neenah, it was reported.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY
BY ALAN LEMAY

SYNOPSIS: Carrying a gun-cargo for Rajah Mantusen, we find Sumatung Island seething with a revolt of savage Dyak tribes against the Malays. Christine Forrester, a young English girl, is supplying the Dyak guns, but Mantusen accuses my uncle, James Clyde. While Clyde is held as hostage, I (Paul Thorne) am to bring our fortified trading vessel, the Linkang, up-river to aid the Malays. Then Christine tells me my father started this war, the Dyaks are sharpshooters, and not even the Linkang can live an hour in the river.

Chapter 16
TENYALANG
ADMIT that the tribes themselves cannot be organized or controlled," Christine continued. "But those few hundred riflemen are more than enough. All the rest of the tribes merely add weight and mass; they protect the snipers and serve as clean-up troops. Do you think 300 sharpshooters can't open Balingong to the tribes? I tell you they could take Saremba!"

It was too complete a thing to believe, and too suddenly heard of. And yet there wasn't any reason why what she said could not be true. We already knew that Anthony Forrester had been poking around Sumatung for years, for ever pestering Mantusen for permission to go up rivers, and then going in anyway, whether he got permission or not. Mantusen knew him well as a pest.

And it was true that the thing she described could have been done in secret. The Malays know nothing about the religious capers of the Dyaks, and care less. Forrester could carry a few guns, ostensibly for hunting, without causing attention. The Dyaks, too, old in the codes of tabu, are good at secrecy. There was not a really basic flaw in her whole story; indeed, much that was circumstantial seemed to support it. Yet I still could not bring myself to put any importance in it. It was too elaborate, and, by her account, too thoroughly successful.

I still was not ready to acknowledge what long, patient labors might be possible to a scholarly and visionary man concentrating on a single purpose.

I started some ill-natured objection. "But how--"

Then suddenly I saw a thing that stopped me. It hit me between the eyes with the smacking shock of a spent bullet, so that what I was saying was knocked out of me in mid-word.

The Sacred Symbol
I was looking at her hands: she had beautiful hands, slender and sensitive, but browned by the sun, and very strong and capable. She had dropped the metallic bangle that she had been playing with. It was dangling from her wrist by its thong. And I saw now that the thing was a Dyak jimat, or charm token, cut out of thin gold in an intricate fret-work. It represented the formalized figure of a bird; and instantly I knew where I had seen one exactly like it.

The gold hornbill cut-out was the same as the brass jimat which had hung from the rifle Mantusen had captured; so closely the same that one must surely have been traced from the other.

"In heaven's name, what's that?" She slipped the thong off her wrist, and gave me the token to look at. "It's what I've been trying to tell you about. That is a Tenyalang. It represents the sacred symbol of the rifle societies. Every gun has one of these--only not gold--and so has every rifleman. The societies themselves are called Tenyalang; it's both a symbol and a name."

Curious how a little piece of cut metal could suddenly make the whole fantastic story seem real, simply because I had seen the thing before, exactly where it would be if her story was true. Mechanically, I handed back the gold jimat, trying to conceive what this might mean to James Clyde.

"I saw one of these things last night," I said after a while. "It was account, too thoroughly successful."

Modeling, Store Operation Among Projects at Schools

New London—Project work is under way in most of the grades of Lincoln and McKinley public schools. Some units have just been completed, some new ones are being started and other pupils are in the midst of their work.

Modeling with papier-mache was started Tuesday by the fifth grade at Lincoln school. The children made their own paper pulp and mixed it in quart jars. Bowls, trays, cups and small household and decorative articles are being made from the material. After the papier-mache hardens and dries the children may color the objects.

The study of arithmetic and food prices are combined by the third grade in the operation of a grocery store they have erected in the classroom. The first grade has built a locomotive and tender with one large car big enough to take the pupils on as passengers. The project house has been arranged as a snow covered depot.

An art house for exhibiting drawings and cut-outs which illustrate their studies is being filled by second grade pupils. The fourth grade has just finished a study of Holland and is starting a project on the Mediterranean lands.

Wheat Quotations Suffer Setback in Trade at Chicago

Downward Trend Prevails On Market Despite Securities Advance

Chicago — (AP)—Despite advances of securities, the Chicago wheat market showed a downward trend most of the time today, and finished near the day's bottom price level.

Trade specialists said it certainly looked as though Europe would buy only moderate quantities of United States wheat this season. One leading authority stated that the United States was the sole country which possessed an important accumulation of wheat not likely to disappear within the year.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1 to 1 cent under yesterday's finish, May 95-95½, July 91-91½, corn unchanged to 1 up, May 59½-60, July 60½, and oats unchanged to 1 off.

New York — (AP)—A recovery push in today's stock market encountered sufficient last-hour profit realizing to pare or cancel extreme advances running to 2 or more points.

In dealings that were even slower than yesterday, rails, coppers and virtually all industrial groups had their moment in the buying limelight, but some closed well under best levels of the day.

With the ticker tape barely crawling on the afternoon track, transfers were around 650,000 shares.

Up substantially the greater part of the session were shares of Santa Fe, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Homestake, Loew's, Alchamers, J. C. Penney, Bethlehem Steel, National Cash, Crucible, Youngstown and Howe Sound.

St. Joseph Lead and National Lead led when the price of the staple was nipped $5 a ton, the second slice this week.

Would Eliminate Group of Shares From N. Y. Market

New York — (AP)—The New York Stock exchange moved yesterday to delist Duluth South Shore and Atlantic railway preferred and common stocks; Fairbanks company, common, and National Railways of Mexico 4 per cent first preferred and 5 per cent second preferred stocks.

The exchange announced it would make application to the securities and exchange commission for the necessary authority to remove the shares.

Recommendations for removal came from the committee on stock listing which expressed the opinion delisting "is in the interests of the investing public." Analyses of the companies' operations and income statements for the last 10 years accompanied the committee's recommendations to the exchange governing committee.

The affected shares had stock exchange listing for many years. The action of the exchange, taken on its own initiative, was viewed in some Wall Street quarters as marking a new policy for eliminating from the list shares which have consistently lacked earning power for extended periods.

Grant License to Sponsor Carnival To Appleton Vets

Harvey Pierre post, Veterans of Foreign Wars was granted a license to sponsor a carnival in Appleton from June 13 to 18 at a special meeting of the common council Wednesday.

Granting of the license was discussed at a council meeting last week but action was deferred to allow any persons objecting to the carnival to give their arguments.

Aldermen decided it would be better to grant the license and have police control over the show than to have the carnival set up its own concessions in the city and outside the jurisdiction of Appleton police.

Rail Issues in Broad Advance on Bond Market

New York — (AP)—A broad advance in railroad loans imparted momentum on the upside to the bond market today, leaving many issues with gains running to more than 3 points in late trading.

Buying in rails seems to have been quickened by the termination of arguments before the ICC for a freight rate boost and expectation the commission would expedite its decision. In financial circles the guessing has been mostly for a partial grant of the rate boost request.

At the start of the last hour, advances of fractions to about 3 points were registered for Allegheny 5½, Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4½, Illinois Central 4½, Erie First 4½, Great Northern 5½, New York Central 4½ A of 1913 and Nickel Plate 4½.

Sharp Gains Recorded On New York Curb Mart

New York — (AP)—Moderately active bidding brought some sharp gains in industrial shares in today's curb market.

Leaders of the move included Aluminum, Ltd., up nearly 8 points, and Brill preferred up about 4. Other issues higher by 1 to around 3 points at the start of the fifth hour were: Peppercorn, Jones and Lauglin, Steel American Metal, Babcock and Wilcox, Aluminum company, Newmont and Sherwin Williams.

Oils and utilities improved narrowly.

Holding Firm to Battle Against Receivership Suit

Madison — (AP)—The Continental Service company, a holding company sponsored by officers of the bankrupt Buckman investment firm, served notice today it will protest the move of certain stockholders to place it in receivership.

Through Attorney W. J. B. Aberg of Madison, the company filed an answer in federal court denying it is insolvent or unable to meet its debts.

The petition for receivership was filed by Attorney Harry J. Allen of Milwaukee, representing about 30 stockholders. The petition charged that a $25,000 dividend was declared last October, but that only 20 per cent of the stockholders got checks.

The answer admits that checks for $5,189.05, dated Oct. 29, 1937, were sent to holders of 39,188 shares of common stock and that checks of the same date were made out to holders of 285,333 shares, but not delivered.

"The position of the company and its present management is that no dividend was declared in October, 1937," the answer said.

White admitting there was no authorization by Continental Service for a loan of $75,000 to the Buckman company, the answer declared that its debt to Automatic Products company, has been reduced to $21,119.28.

It charged the petition for a receiver is a "scheme by Attorney Allen and others to secure personal control of the assets."

The company's headquarters and records now are at Bay City, Texas. E. J. Crofoot, president, and C. B. Eram, vice president, both of Bay City, signed the answer.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

BY ALAN LEWIS

on the gun Mantusen took from the Dyaks."

"You see? Doesn't that prove what I've been telling you?" "I saw it another place, too," I went on. "I saw it scratched in the bone of a freshly taken skull."

She whitened at that. But she said gamely, "That is quite possible."

"I'm almost as ignorant as you say I am. But when you talk about Dyak ceremonies, I know more about what those were. No Dyak can go through any kind of a ceremony that amounts to a human head without a human head—the fresher the better."

Her silence admitted this.

"You tell me that the first gun your father gave them has a house of its own," I continued. "I don't need to have you tell me how that house is decorated. It is hung all over with decaying heads. You seem to have a good deal of contempt for the type of trade that James Clyde is. But let me tell you this: we are not dealing in human heads—not yet."

A Tormented Remnant

She didn't like that "People who accomplish anything must work with the materials they find," she answered me. "The Dyaks didn't use to be the way they are now. They used to be a peaceful, prosperous agricultural race. There were once two hundred thousand of them on the island of Suman-tang! What you see now is only a tormented remnant. They've degenerated, yes; but it's the degeneration of a conquered people, unable to face the kris any longer."

"They're still head hunters to me," I maintained obstinately. "But it isn't their fault. It was the Malay conquest that nearly destroyed them."

She was right.

No matter what the Dyaks were now, they were still the only ones who raised a hand to produce anything in all the archipelagos. No Malay ever lifted a useful tool. They pirated and raided, and took away what little the Dyaks scraped together, but it was the Dyaks and the Dyaks alone who produced. Every time you went up the Siderong river or any other, you could see the old gradings where the paddies used to be. But until now I had never heard of anyone who believed that the paddies were coming back.

"Balingong controls almost twenty thousand square miles of land," Christine Forester was saying. "A whole nation can live on it, and live well, if the Malays could be kept off them only for a few years."

"The Malays wouldn't leave it alone," I said, "even if you got it developed."

Her chin lifted in the swift, spirited way I was beginning to recognize. "They could be made to leave it alone. The Dyaks outnumber the Malays fifty to one. All that it needed is to teach the Dyaks to handle arms. And my father found a way to do that!"

Perhaps I should have caught some glimpse of Anthony Forester's dream. It was there, behind the quick nervous sentences of the girl. A strange enough thing was happening here. Through this girl a dead man was trying to talk to me.

But . . . What crowded in on me just then was the immediate effect of those Tenzalung rifles might have upon a possible rescue of James Clyde. (Copyright, 1938)

Court of Honor At Clintonville

Nearly 100 Parents and Boy Scouts Attend Event

Clintonville—Nearly one hundred parents and boy scouts attended court of honor held Monday evening for Troop No. 24 of this city, sponsored by the American Legion. The affair was held at the Knights of Columbus hall, where a covered dish supper was arranged by women of the American Legion auxiliary with Mrs. S. H. Sanford as general chairman.

Lester Osterloft, scoutmaster of Troop 24, was awarded his eagle badge at the court of honor ceremony which followed the supper. The presentation was made by John Buehrens, district commissioner, in the presence of Mr. Osterloft's wife and his mother, Mrs. Frank Heinel. Jack DeCoursin received his second glass badge, and a tenderfoot badge was awarded to George Stevens, Jr., DeWight Nass, Edward Laux, William Hurley, Edward Anderson, Raymond Boddy and Peter Brahan, Jr. The awards were made during a candle light ceremony by Fred Jahn, chairman of the troop committee.

Ivan Nordstrand, who attended the National Scout Jamboree at Washington, D. C. last June, described the event and showed motion pictures which he took while there. Harold Olk, Jr., and James Olk of Troop 23 also attended the national jamboree. A demonstration of fire by friction was given by Ervin Meidam, Jr. and games and stunts completed the entertainment.

Troop No. 24 consists of 23 boy scouts, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Osterloft, and his assistants, Ivan Nordstrand and Manville Stearns.

In observance of the twenty-eighth anniversary of the national boy scout movement being held this week, a special service was held Sunday morning at the Methodist church. "The Rev. W. H. Wiese preached on the subject, 'The Boy Scout Nobody Knows.' Members of all four Clintonville troops were invited to the church services. The local troops are No. 21, sponsored by the Methodist church, with Norman Hanson as scoutmaster; No. 23, under the leadership of Lloyd Pinkowsky, and sponsored by a group of citizens; No. 24, under the guidance of the American Legion with Lester Osterloft as scoutmaster; and No. 20, the St. Martin Lutheran church troop led by Frank Sinkewicz. All four groups hold regular meetings and carry on active scout programs.

Maybe This Is Why You're Constipated

Perhaps the kind of food you eat doesn't give your bowels anything to work on. Meat, potatoes and bread don't form the kind of soft, bulky mass that will help move your bowels. If so, a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Brans for breakfast will give you just the kind of "bulk" your intestines may need to work properly. And in addition, it contains the intestinal tonic, vitamin B<sub>1</sub>, which helps to tone them. If you want to get at the cause of your trouble, eat some Kellogg's All-Brans every day—as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. All-Brans is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.
